Probers Demand Atom Spy Trials For 4 Persons

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Spy trials for four persons—including two atom bomb scientists and a Communist party official—were urged today by the House un-American activities committee.

A 36-page report, in which the committee said it has been able so far only to "scratch the surface" of atomic spy activities in this country, recommended these legal actions:

1. Prosecution of Steve Nelson, Communist party organizer in Pennsylvania, on charges of outright espionage, and citation of Nelson for contempt of Congress for refusing to answer committee questions.
2. Prosecution of Dr. Clarence F. Hickey, his former wife, Marcia Sand Hickey, and Dr. John E. Chapin on charges of conspiracy to commit espionage. Hickey and Chapin were atomic bomb project scientists during the war.

Bevin Warns Reds at Fault If War Comes

PARIS, Sept. 27 (AP)—Britain's Ernest Bevin warned today that the United Nations may fall apart over the East-West conflict and the possibility arose that a double veto by Russia will keep the Berlin crisis out of the Security Council.

The foreign secretary told the U. N. assembly that Russia alone will be to blame if the black fury of an atomic war grips the world. If it is impossible to work on a world basis, he declared, "we must proceed on a regional basis."

Accusing Russia of insincerity, untruthfulness and evasion, he said: "It is better to have our difficulties now than to live in a fool's paradise."

"If the black fury, the incalculable disaster of atomic war should fall upon us, all I can say is, that one power will alone be responsible for the evils which may be visited upon mankind."

The committee also said a mysterious "Scientist X" should "either be prosecuted forthwith or cleared."

That is a separate West or East case. It added that it may ask later for perjury charges against three witnesses heard in recent weeks.

The report also said Dr. Martin D. Kamen, now a professor at Washington university in St. Louis, "very definitely gave classified information" to a Russian consular official in San Francisco, in 1944. Kamen concedes that "what he did constituted a gross indiscretion," the report said, adding:

"Whether that was all it was, or whether it constituted something more than that, the committee is not prepared at this time to say."

Dr. Kamen has denied that he gave away atomic secrets to the Russians. In a statement at Berkeley, Calif., on Sept. 27, Dr. Kamen said he had been discharged from the Manhattan atomic project in 1944 for "indiscretion" but said he was never charged with "security violation."

Berlin Government Asks Allies to Agree or Get Out

BERLIN, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Berlin city government told the quarrelling allied occupation powers today they should all get together on a Berlin settlement or all get out of the city and let the Germans run it.

"Berliners looked to the United Nations as a last desperate chance for a peaceful settlement of the East-West dispute over the blockaded city, but most people felt there was little hope."

The German press was almost unanimously pessimistic that the U.N. could succeed where direct negotiations had failed. The Communist press claimed Berlin was none of the United Nations' business and warned its intervention might wreck the world peace organization.

Looking Back One Year—Those Were Chilly Days

If you wake up feeling kind of cold—with the cold, that is—these mornings, just cast your memory back to the past year at this time and feel in this recollection.

Instead of the low temperature marks of 42 and 43 we have had for the past two days, the lows between Sept. 27 and 30, 1947, were 35, 34, 36 and 38. The accompanying killing frost, earliest in years, doomed late vegetables and soft corn.

The prevailing temperatures, which have produced only light scattered frost so far, will continue, the weatherman predicted. Gathering clouds today will yield rain tomorrow, he added.

THE WEATHER

For Eastern Pennsylvania: Increasing cloudiness today. Cloudy with rain likely, not much change in temperature tomorrow.

Show Business Is Their Business

This picture has all the earmarks of a typical mother-son photo. But it isn't. The smiling pair are two of Scotland's biggest theatrical executives. Bessie Scott and 16-year-old Ross Bowie, both officials in the theatrical club owned by Ross's father, are visiting Miss Scott's niece, Mrs. Theodore Nye, 32 West Fifth street, for six weeks.

Stage Dress Designer Here From Scotland

Miss Bessie Scott, who may be Scotland's busiest woman, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Theodore Nye, 32 West Fifth street, who is a native of Glasgow, too.

Miss Scott, a short, bouncing woman with hair that is redder than good Queen Bess's ever was, is chief wardrobe supervisor and stage dress designer for G. B. Bowie Scottish Theatrical productions, a concern which operates ten theaters in Scotland.

"The houses range all the way from Northern Scotland to the English border. Because shows in each change twice a week in summer and because Miss Scott is responsible for all costume changes in all ten, she gets around a bit in a season. She has held the job for seven years."

Entry List to Close Monday for Dogs In Show on Oct. 16

Dog fanciers have only until next Monday to register their animals for the dog show in Manatwamy park, scheduled for Oct. 16 by the Valley Forge Kennel club and authorized by the American Kennel club.

Paul F. Kilburn, local pet shop proprietor, emphasized the deadline as he urged local owners of show dogs to compete in the show.

There will be special judging of dogs owned by persons within a 12-mile radius of Manatwamy park, where the show will be held all day Oct. 16.

These dogs will be entered in the general showings, and then will be taken separately for rating.

SPECIAL RIBBONS will be awarded to the best dog of a breed, while a trophy will be awarded to the best dog in each of the six groups judged.

Finally, a sterling silver trophy will be presented by Kilburn to the best local dog in the show, as chosen from the six best-of-group.

"The show will be held, rain or shine," Kilburn declared yesterday. The island of Manatwamy park will be used for the show itself, while nearby field will be used for parking space.

Eligible dogs include those registered by the A.K.C.; those eligible for club registration; or those apparently pure-bred, although the dog cannot be registered for lack of proof.

No altered dog or bitch may be entered in the show, Kilburn emphasized.

Truman Says Demos Are for 'All'; Dewey Urges 'Power for Peace'

By The Associated Press

President Truman, campaigning in Texas, said last night the people must turn to the Democratic party for a government that works in the interests of "all the people."

And in the Pacific Northwest, GOP presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey, charted a vast development of natural resources to give America "more power to wage the peace."

Mr. Truman spoke in Bonham, Texas, Gov. Dewey in Seattle. Five weeks from today, will come the election which will decide which of them will sit in the White House the next four years.

WITH AN OBVIOUS backhand reference to Dewey's calls for unity for Americans, Mr. Truman said he doesn't want any part of "unity offered by a Republican party that would let prices go sky high."

In another reference to the Republicans, the President said he could talk about their mistakes "from now to Christmas." He added: "Nothing I can say about the Republicans is as bad as their record."

Dewey, in a major address at Seattle, replied in effect to Mr. Truman's oft-raised cry that the Republicans—especially the 80th Congress—tried to "sabotage" the war effort.

Polio Outbreak Fear Forces Colebrookdale School Shut

PUPIL STRICKEN; MOTHERS KEEP CHILDREN HOME

Building Is Disinfected On Parents' Demand, To Reopen Tomorrow

By FRANK DOSTAL (Mercury Staff Writer)

Fear-stricken mothers closed the Colebrookdale school yesterday.

They refused to send their children into a building in which they feared the dreaded virus of poliomyelitis may be lurking.

Their fear was spurred into desperate action when a pupil at the school, Richard Weller, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Weller, Boyertown RD 2, was stricken with infantile paralysis.

The boycott of the school began Saturday, shortly after the youngster was taken to Reading hospital. "Telephones began ringing and mothers made personal visits to other mothers."

The messages were all the same: "Don't send your children to school, there's infantile paralysis loose there."

YESTERDAY, TEACHERS arrived at the school to find only 15 of their 115 pupils outside. They presumably were ones whose parents had not been reached. Even the school bus did not put in an appearance.

Instead, they received a demand from the parents that the school be fumigated before they would allow their children to return.

Mrs. Esther Stauffer, principal, said the few children who appeared were sent home without being allowed in the building.

A few hours later, in deference to the parents' demand, the school board had a professional fumigating concern disinfest the building. "The entire structure (Continued on Page Twenty-two)

THE TENANTS OF Penn Village last night locked arms to block the move which would rout 65 village families from their government-owned homes.

The Penn Village Tenants association, as it was named at a meeting of 50 villagers in the community hall, will swing into action immediately.

In addition to political and legal aid they will seek, association members are prepared to physically resist eviction, they indicated.

The militant session in the smoke-heavy hall was sparked by Allen D. H. Field, later named president, Leonard A. Hartman, who became vice president, and William H. Monyer, head of the Glenside Tenants association, near Reading, which also faces an eviction problem.

Electing officers, naming the organization, setting up meeting dates and taking a collection, the executive committee laid plans for general action.

THE ASSOCIATION will seek the aid of Burgess William A. Griffith and Congressman Samuel K. McConnell in halting evictions and said they will hire a lawyer.

No evictions have been served yet, but the group wants to deter them. Hartman asserted his belief that "there is a good chance that the courts won't back the evictions."

But if evictions come, followed by vans for the furniture, two courses may be taken, he suggested. The organization can throw a picket line around the house and ask co-operation of the movers not to enter the house.

Or, "as a last resort, you can do what you want—I'm not saying what I'll do," he added.

"We must stop the first eviction. Once they get by that one, we're licked," he declared.

THE PUBLIC HOUSING administration's schedule calls for eviction of 65 of the highest-income families from the village to make way for poorer families.

Financial limits on tenants entering the village now vary between $35 per week for a childless couple to $46 for families with five or more children.

Hartman, a slight, intense man, did most of the talking before the elections.

Explaining his opinion that the group would have a chance in court, he listed two reasons:

1. Penn Village was not listed as a low-income development when it was erected and therefore eviction on the basis of income is illegal, he said.
2. When the village was built by the Federal government, the borough agreed to tear down 117 sub-standard homes. This has not been done. "If the borough won't keep its agreement, neither will the tenants," he said.

He then attacked the 80th Congress for deleting a clause in its special-session housing bill which had called for a stay of evictions.

"If undue hardship is worked upon tenants because of the eviction," he said the cause will lie in this deletion.

"This law is crazy as hell," he said. "President Truman has my sympathy if this is an example of the work of the 80th Congress."

HE FURTHER blamed the "real estate lobby" as being partly responsible for the housing law which (Continued on Page Twenty-two)

Oral Arguments Asked In Wentzel Retrial Plea

Ten minutes may mean the difference between ten or 20 years in prison or a lifetime of freedom for Gerald C. Wentzel, Kenilworth, it was revealed yesterday.

It will be the ten minutes in which his attorneys, W. H. Rosenberry, Jr. and Ernest E. Helm, will present oral arguments on his application for a new trial if the request to the Supreme Court is approved.

The petition for oral argument on the original petition for reargument for a retrial and two additional affidavits from Dr. William L. Franck and John Wojcik is intended to bring the case more pointedly to the attention of the court. It already has been filed with the Supreme Court through the prothonotary of Philadelphia, Rosenberry said yesterday.

Wentzel, at the present time, is confined in the Eastern penitentiary, Graterford, after his conviction for second degree murder in the strangulation slaying of Miriam Green, attractive Pottstown divorcee.

IN THE APPLICATION for ten minutes of oral argument, the two attorneys said they were making the request because "they have been and still are sincerely convinced that an injustice has been done and that Gerald C. Wentzel is innocent of the killing of Miriam Green; that their current investigations have made their sincere convictions of the innocence of Gerald C. Wentzel much stronger."

The petition revealed that Wentzel's case is no longer just another case to Rosenberry and Helm, but a fight for the rights of a man whom they firmly believe is innocent.

"Their motives in pressing strongly for the privilege of oral argument," the petition went on to say, "is based upon their sincerity in the belief of his innocence, and not out of any motive of profit or personal gain to them, for they have long since ceased to be remunerated for their services and that a reargument on the petition alone would deprive them and Gerald C. Wentzel of the benefit which might be obtained by oral presentation of their argument in behalf of Gerald C. Wentzel."

It is not known whether or not the Supreme Court will grant their request for oral argument or when it will be held, if it is granted. If possible, it may be squeezed into the November term of court when it sits in Philadelphia.

James Kerr Dies; Headed School Board In Union Township

James Kerr, 58, general storekeeper, fraternalist and president of the Union township (Berks county) school board, died late Sunday night at his home in Kulptown, Douglassville RD 1. He had been ill since Friday.

He had been conducting the store at Kulptown, between Birdsboro and Hopeville, for the past five years, and was serving his first term on the school board.

After moving to the Douglassville section 16 years ago, he became salesman for the Reading office of the Sunshine Biscuit company, a job he held until he opened the store.

Mr. Kerr had been married to Irene (Painter) Kerr for the past 17 years.

Born in Pittsburgh, he later conducted an auto supply firm in Steubenville, Ohio.

HE WAS A MEMBER of the Alice Fuel Memorial Methodist church, Birdsboro, and also was president of the Union Rank; and a member of the Friendship Fire company and Rotary club, all three of Birdsboro; the Masonic lodge and Knights Templar, Steubenville, and Rajah temple, Reading.

Surviving are his father, Alexander, San Francisco, Calif.; wife and two daughters, Virginia, wife of Lt. John Allen, who is stationed in Germany, and Betty Ann, at home.

Also surviving are two sisters, Isabel, wife of W. G. True, Beaver, Beaver county, and May, wife of T. P. White, of McKeesport, Allegheny county, and a brother, Alexander Jr., of Ocean City, N. J.

Funeral arrangements, incomplete last night, are in charge of a funeral home at 433 East First street, Birdsboro.

Two Hilldale Youths Held for Hearings On 'Friendly' Thefts

Two Hilldale youths, arrested in connection with a series of burglaries staged while householders were stranded in Reading by "friendly" were committed to Montgomery county prison last night to await a further hearing today.

Isaiah Germany Jr., 19, was held without bail on a charge of burglary after a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Charles J. German, Norristown.

He was rounded up yesterday by Collegeville State troopers who were conducting a probe of the "friendly burglars."

EDWARD WHITFIELD, 20, was held in default of $1000 bail on a charge of carrying a pistol illegally. Whitfield was arrested Saturday night by Pottstown Patrolmen Paul Galloway and Michael Shanta, who had been alerted to watch for a car allegedly involved in carrying the householders to Reading on a "friendly" ride and stranding them while they returned to ransack their homes.

The patrolmen said one of the men brandished a German Luger pistol before he was arrested with a companion at High and Keim streets.

Two other persons, arrested in connection with the burglaries, were released after questioning. They were Lillian Waters, 26, whose only address listed by police was Lincoln avenue and Randolph Beasley, 23, of 244 Mintzer street, who was riding with Whitfield Saturday night.

Barkley Tells South a Vote Against Truman Will Help Elect Republican Nominees

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 27 (AP)—Senator Alben W. Barkley told Southern Democrats tonight a vote for any other candidate than President Truman "is a vote for the Republican nominees."

First of top Democratic candidates to invade the South where many dissident party members are backing Gov. J. Strom Thurmond for President, Barkley said it would "be a tragic thing if the partnership between the Democratic party and the states of the South were to be destroyed."

Thurmond, States' Rights Democrats' candidate, is on the North Carolina ballot with Truman and Governor Dewey.

BARKLEY, DEMOCRATIC vice presidential nominee, spoke at a meeting arranged by the State Democratic committee.

Should the South break away from the Democratic party, he declared, "it would leave the South without effective means of promoting its own high aspirations" and "without a voice in the councils of the nation."

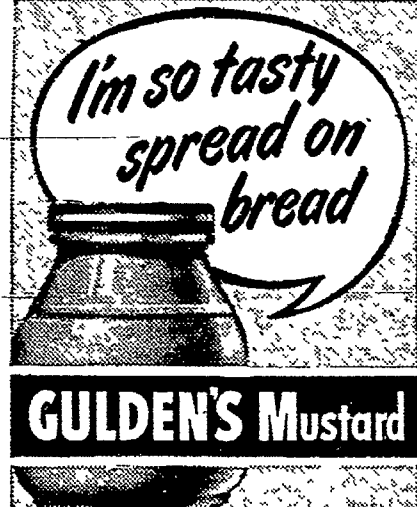

The November election, he said, is between Democratic and Republican candidates, for "no other party has any hope of obtaining more than a fraction of votes."

Without mentioning the revolting Southern Democratic party, Barkley said "some of the following of fragmentary political groups, some of them in the South, has been attracted by sincere interests, some by distortion of issues and some by misunderstanding of these issues."

BARKLEY INVITED southerners to resume their "long and fruitful partnership with the Democratic party" and to "adjust differences of opinion within the framework of the party."

He said the Republican party never has been friendly to the South and "is not interested in its problems."

Twenty years ago, he recalled, many Southern Democrats supported a Republican, Herbert Hoover, against Al Smith, the Democratic nominee. "I am sure," he said, "your memories of the one four-year term of President Hoover are sufficiently etched in your mind that you need no reminder from me."

Recreation Agency Buys Film Projector From Contributions

A motion picture projector, available to local non-profit organizations, was purchased with recent contributions to the Pottstown Recreation commission, it was announced at a commission meeting in borough hall last night.

The new sound projector will go first to the Transfiguration Lutheran church activities room, where it will be used each Friday night at 7:30 o'clock for children's motion pictures.

These shows will be open to all local youngsters, it was emphasized.

The Recreation commission also plans to use the new projector at the playgrounds and at commission-sponsored special events.

Donations, all of which were received with thanks, included:

- Spicer Supervisor's and Clerical association—$200.
- Pottstown Kiwanis club—$75.
- Spicer Employees' Aid association—$50.
- Dochler-Jarvis corporation—$25.
- Bethlehem Steel company—$25.

Mrs. Florence Manthorne, director, playgrounds, reported on past Summer's activities to commission members, while Francis Donnon, recreation director, gave a financial report of the Summer and told of the activities of the sports leagues sponsored by the commission.

COMMISSION MEMBERS approved Donnon's suggestion that a few-agers' program be set up.

The recreation director will meet soon with class officers of the Pottstown Senior High school for first discussions. He will sound out students' opinion of the idea through a school survey, and if a desire for the activities develops, will seek volunteer leaders.

Donnon said last night no definite plans were made for the school boys' and girls' activities.

The commission will meet again Oct. 25, when J. W. Faust, field representative of the National Recreation association, of New York City, will meet with the group to aid them in their plans and programs.

The Rev. Dr. Gustave W. Weber, Recreation commission chairman, was in charge of last night's meeting. Other members included Leonard Hiltwine, J. Max Creswell and Leonard Hatfield.

State Film Shown To Historical Society

Pennsylvania Week was marked at last night's meeting of the Pottstown Historical society as 100 members of the group watched a 30-minute color motion picture, "Pennsylvania."

The film, presented in the library of The Hill school science building, showed historical and scenic spots in the State as well as glimpses of industries and agriculture.

Mrs. James L. Wendell, reporting for the Pottsgrove Manor committee, said restoration work on the exterior of the building was virtually complete, and that reconstruction of the interior now was under way.

548 Members Give YMCA $13,125 In Current Drive

Volunteer workers reported a total of 548 members signed up and $13,125.50 received last night, at the third report meeting of the Pottstown YMCA membership campaign.

The "Y" goal is 1600 members and $23,670, needed to balance the budget of the fiscal year ending Sept. 30.

The 548 memberships reported included both new members and membership renewals. It was reported. Currently, the "Y" has 1463 members, 1053 of whom had their memberships come up for renewal this month when the membership campaign began.

ROBERT P. SMITH, chairman of the special gifts committee, reported that his team had raised $7700 of the total reported, and had signed up 76 members.

Smith also spoke to the 50 workers in the "Y" last night, urging them to complete the campaign successfully, and outlining for them fundamental rules of salesmanship.

Jacob Raden, who began working in the YMCA drives in 1922, also spurred the workers with a talk.

Jacob R. Sotter, chairman of the membership committee, was in charge of last night's meeting.

The final report meeting will be held Thursday night at 7 o'clock in the YMCA auditorium.

business session, directors of the society decided to take part in Pottstown's Bicentennial celebration, scheduled for 1952.

President Isaac Thomas, Hill school master, took charge of the meeting. The group will meet again Jan. 31, 1949.

Motorcyclist Found To Have Injury; Hearing Is Delayed

The hearing, set for last night, of Walter Roadcap Jr., 23, of Pottstown RD 2, on drunken driving charges was postponed yesterday when he was admitted to Pottstown hospital.

Roadcap is accused of striking John Masleh, 24, of 1012 Queen street, with his motorcycle Saturday night on Penn street. Masleh, who was walking up the street with his wife, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg.

Pottstown patrolmen tried to persuade Roadcap, who was thrown from the cycle, to remain in the hospital after being treated for abrasions of the face and legs, but he insisted on signing his release.

But yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock, Roadcap was admitted to the hospital with a skull injury that may be a fracture.

ROADCAP ALSO is charged with driving without glasses, contrary to a restriction of his driver's license. An inadvertent error in yesterday's news story in The Mercury cited this charge as being placed against the injured pedestrian.

Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley, of the Second ward, said last night the hearing will be held following Roadcap's release from the hospital.

Public Speaking Course Opens With Class of 11

A 12-week public speaking course began at the Pottstown YMCA last night with 11 men and women participating.

The Rev. George A. Lincker, rector of Christ Episcopal church, is in charge of the class, which will meet every Monday night.

Class members included Mildred Yocum, Wesley C. Nichols, John H. Jacob, Joseph G. Glide Sr., John Dimon, Mrs. Attilio Botto, Carl T. Ressler, Harold Kulp, Esther Hirsch, Herbert O. Derr and Joseph S. Glide.

The northern shores of the Great Lakes are believed to be rising at the rate of about a foot every century.

How not to choose an executor

When you and your lawyer review your Will, or write a new one . . . you'll come up against a knotty problem in choosing an executor.

Will you select an individual as sole executor? It can be done, of course . . . but you'd better consult a crystal ball to find out (a) whether the individual you name would still be alive to perform the task, and (b) whether that individual would welcome, or shun, the responsibility.

We can't tell you where to find such a crystal ball, but we can suggest a better solution: Appointment of Fidelity to act as your corporate executor or corporate trustee.

The corporate executor never dies, never grows ill, never takes vacations. It is controlled by law, by audits, by examinations. It offers stability and varied experience. It assures up-to-date knowledge of investments, and a businesslike method of handling estate affairs.

For more than 80 years, Fidelity has served efficiently as executor, or co-executor, for estates both large and small. We'll welcome the opportunity to serve you and your family, too.

A hypocrite is in himself both the archer and the mark, in all actions shooting at his own praise or profit.
—Fuller.

The Flag Nobody knows
POTTSTOWN knew the flag nobody knows the other day.

It was flown in the Salvation Army citadel on King street the past Sunday. And although this flag flies in more countries and colonies than any other flag in the world, it is unfamiliar to many persons.

During the last weekend in September, 1878, Catherine Booth, wife of William Booth, founder and first general of the Salvation Army, presented a group of Salvationists in Coventry, England, with a flag she had just made. It was a red and blue flag with a bright yellow star in the center on which were the words, "Blood and Fire."

Today more than 17,000 of these flags wave around the world, from the depths of Africa to the cities of North and South America. In a displaced persons camp in Berlin, refugees representing 42 nationalities decided that the flag of the Salvation Army should fly in lieu of the flag of any single nation.

Veteran of two World Wars, the red and blue flag with its bright yellow star continued to lead an army in the greatest global war the world has ever known—the war against sin, distress and poverty.

Pottstown, Captain Meral Cox and his Salvation Army helpers are taking prominent parts in this great war.

As of A. D. 1948

A JUDGE in Chicago advised a mother to "tell the landlord you don't have any children and then move in and just let them try to put you out. I don't condone lying, but you owe it to your children." The judge is behind the times. The idea today is that people owe it to themselves, not merely to their children, to take liberties with the old moral maxims.

As of A. D. 1948, upright citizens talk poor and let the state take care of their old people. Men with two cars get their hangovers treated free in veterans' hospitals by signing a paper that they can't pay. Missourians who declare the full value of their possessions for personal taxes are almost as rare as the dodo.

Some people chisel on unemployment compensation. Others marry in a hurry and escape the draft. Bribery in fancy dress is the third party in dickerings for apartments and automobiles. It's good business to preach that your brand of cigar is the best thing that ever happened to noses and throats.

The real poets of the new morality are those who can make money by giving away property to avoid taxes, or call current profits capital gains and so also avoid taxes. Their heroes get rich by shutting down their factories and selling their steel allotments in the gray market. Its true saints give away land for parks and such, are hailed as public benefactors, and get their reward right here on earth by letting other people buy those very desirable lots near the new park.

Other hallowed characters establish so-called philanthropic foundations, for which they are acclaimed by a multitude unaware that such foundations are designed to keep great estates intact and avoid inheritance taxes.

The law, and the administrators and judges thereof, invite all these things, and A. D. 1948 is nothing if not law-abiding.

On the Beam

THE tremendous advantage given offensive warfare over defensive tactics by development of the atom bomb and high-speed, long-range bombers has given many people an understandable, if not completely justifiable, case of jitters. Such jitters can be dangerous—if they inspire defeatism on the part of the public or among the nation's military security planners. They are a good thing if they apply the spur to defense research.

Britain, whose extremely vulnerable military position might be enough to breed defeatism, is taking the more optimistic course. A British research team reports progress on a faster-than-sound anti-aircraft rocket which is guided to its target by a radio beam. It is believed the beam can be "locked" onto an aerial target flying as high as 100,000 feet overhead. If successful, the rocket may prove the answer to the heavy bomber, at present the only effective way of delivering the A-bomb to its target.

The rocket has still to be proven, and it won't be the perfect weapon when it is ready. But in the meantime it is comforting that progress in the right direction is being made by people "on our side."

Pottstown Glosses Over Its Police Inefficiencies

Like Boston, Has Its 'Nice Man'

To the Editor: As a long-time student of municipal government and politics, I've been interested in your criticisms of the operation of the police department. I also have been anxious to find out what reactions your exposes of police inefficiency has had on public opinion.

I have talked with many of my business associates and friends about this. Most of them are better acquainted with borough politics and history than I am. I find that those who are opposed to your editorial policy on this question have a stock reply: "Jim Laughhead is a nice man. Why not let the poor guy alone?"

I haven't been able to get any more logical a reason from them than that!

If Pottstown is keeping its police chief because he's "a nice man," then someone has been asleep for a long time. Yes, Pottstown deserves something better than a "nice man" at the head of its police department.

I lived in Massachusetts when Jim Curley was making suckers out of the voters. He gave them nothing, took all he could get. And the voters frankly admitted to it. But Jim was a "nice man."

It took a long time for Boston to wake up to the fact that Jim Curley and his henchmen had set up a system of decay that was sapping the lifeblood out of the city.

Pottstown, with its slow-thinking Dutch element, might well be compared to Boston. Its tendency to condone inefficiency in government is hindering all efforts to progress. The sooner we pull our feet out of the mud, the better it will be for all of us.

Questions for Mr. Creswell

To the Editor: Since council meeting, I have been so disappointed and disgusted with certain members of our council that I just didn't know what to think. Why?

Governors Dewey and Warren intend to base their campaign for election on noble, lofty and dignified grounds. Until provoked by Truman attacks in the latter stages of the campaign, Governors Dewey and Warren will decry his attempts to split class against class. They will plump for national unity.

Governors Dewey and Warren will continue to make innocuous speeches for the next several weeks, hoping to tempt Mr. Truman into the delivery of politically indiscreet and unwise statements.

Then, abandoning their modest approach, they will let loose against President Truman with every gun in their political armory.

Until Oct. 15 at the latest, Governors Dewey and Warren will treat Mr. Truman rather kindly, in accord with their Albany agreement not to make martyr votes for the Chief Executive. But after that date, the political gloves will be off.

AREAS: The oddest fact about the 1948 presidential contest seems to be that the voters are more enthusiastic over the vice-presidential nominees than over the men who head the Democratic or Republican tickets.

Gov. Earl Warren, of California, the Republicans' No. 2 man, is making a great hit in his tour of the Middle West and the East.

In the Far West, the Republicans will carry almost all electorally important states because of his presence on the ticket rather than because of Mr. Dewey's appeal.

If the GOP corals a majority of the southern and border commonwealths, it will be because of Earl Warren, not Tom Dewey.

Luckily, the two Republican nominees reached an agreement on this question at their recent huddles in Albany. Governor Dewey realized that there were certain areas where Governor Warren could win more votes than he could, and the two strategists paralled out their campaigning areas.

OVERSHADOWING: Sen. Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, the Democrats' vice presidential nominee, is overshadowing and outsteering President Truman to such an extent that it is pitiful.

Mr. Truman draws crowds solely because he is President of the United States. Who would not turn out to see the head of the world's most powerful government?

Even so, his crowds have not been impressive. And his speeches have aroused no enthusiasm.

SANE: It must be acknowledged that so far Governor Dewey's oratorical efforts have not hit the political bulls-eye. But they have conformed to the pattern outlined here a few weeks after his nomination at Philadelphia.

He is going to let Harry Truman get mad, enthusiastic and hysterical. He and Governor Warren are going to run a quiet and sane campaign, until they think it advisable to bear down in the last few days before election. That is their program.

If Mr. Garner votes for Truman, it will be only because he is such a wool-dyed Democrat that he cannot vote Republican.

He has no use for Truman's policies, any more than he did for F.D.R.'s spending program, recognition of Russia, the Congressional purge or the attempt to "pack" the Supreme court.

FLOWERS

FOR THE LIVING

For MR. AND MRS. EDWARD HAWK

Pottstown RD 4 BECAUSE they were married recently in the parsonage of Rev. William H. Kauler.

The name and complete address of the author must accompany every contribution but on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 250 words will receive preference.

It seems as though our town, through council, is run under dictatorship.

Yes, J. Max Creswell, I am referring to you. Myself you certainly did shine when your proposed plan to abolish the idea of another sergeant was unanimously passed by your so called "colleagues!"

It seems to me your days of smile and shine are over, especially after you start answering some questions which are puzzling the public.

Why did you have the proposed plan for another police sergeant abolished?

Why were you against this plan from the beginning?

Why don't you be like a man and let the public know just what kind of schemes and boners you are pulling off?

Yours was an act that I could only expect to witness over in Russia, that of dictatorship. I am sure no one is proud of you for it. It is a disgrace to Pottstown to have it said you are a councilman.

A word of advice "might" do you some good. Be smart for a change and work for the welfare of the public. If you cannot do what is fair and just to and for the public, then it is time you resign. I am sure there are others that can handle your job much better.

Remember, don't keep the public in the dark. Stop these secret meetings and let us know what is going on.

To the Editor: To G. H. C. ("Nurses Wages and Service," Readers Say, Sept. 21), I say I would like to see you follow a nurse around on duty for a week. Usually six days (the day off probably will fall in the middle of the week) 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., with four hours off including meal times, do the messy things she had to do, then receive her pay check.

And I am sure the smile on your face would be interesting to see.

She Knows a Mother's Cares

To the Editor: In reply to Mother of Four ("Shares Stella's Feelings," Readers Say, Sept. 22.)

Please do not consider your letter very admirable either. For I cannot help having one child, probably no more than you can having four. I am very lucky to have him and proud of it just like you are of yours.

Maybe I am not in a position as you put it, to know how a mother feels, but I have taken care of groups of children ten to 15 at a time all under the age of ten. If I don't know how a mother feels then, I guess I never will.

I have done this just so mothers and fathers can have some time to themselves, for which I hope is appreciated. I don't have to do this. I do it only because I want to.

I don't remember either of us mothers saying our children didn't get on our nerves. Sure, they do. We just don't go around complaining about it. We brought them into the world so we just take the responsibility that goes with parenthood. Why should we push some of that on the school teacher?

Boyetown RD 2 MOTHER OF ONE

Calls for All the Facts

To the Editor: I receive the impression that the borough officials don't want the people to know what they are doing when they prepare to increase water service charges.

It is only after action is taken and nothing can be done about it when they are not concerned about having their deeds made public. I second Mr. Van Horn's suggestion that a Committee of 15 be appointed to force these officials to show their hands.

The Voice of Broadway

(Dorothy Kilgallen is on vacation. Her guest columnist today is the eminent crooner, Frank Sinatra.)

By FRANK SINATRA

THE Business of Warbling
THIS QUESTION I run across most frequently is "What is the most important experience in becoming a singer?"

Well, thanks to Dorothy and the column she's given me, I'll attempt to answer that and in doing so, I'll perhaps give some young boy or girl just starting out some advice that will help — advice based on my own experience.

Sing with a band, I say—there's no better schooling. There are things that happen to you when you work with a band that can happen under no other circumstances. First of all, there's the musical education that you get. No matter how schooled you are, you can't sit with a bunch of guys night after night and not come out of it better informed. Take Tommy Dorsey, for instance.

It used to kill me to hear Tommy blowing for what seemed like forever, and never breathe. After a while, I tried to use my throat and vocal chords the way he did his trombone, and it was like learning to read or write. It was a whole new beginning as far as I was concerned.

And that band had a few other jazz greats as well as Tommy—Bunny Berigan, Ziggy Elman, Joey Bushkin, Buddy Rich. Corney as it may sound, they really inspired me, to say nothing of their invaluable help.

BUT LIFE with a band isn't just one continuous singing lesson. There's a little matter of one nighters, usually made via bus (old) on roads (dry), and although traveling by bus might be most convenient, it certainly isn't the most comfortable way.

And invariably you get to the date just in time to start playing, with seldom time even for what sleep you can catch at the local hotel.

The local hotel — that's always a lean-to. The walls are so thin you can hear the snores on the other side of the building.

When we played theaters it was a little better, because then we usually spent a week or more in one spot. This was when you got your cleaning and laundry done, and tried to catch up on your sleep. It was usually the time when all the one-nighters and lack of sleep caught up with you, too, and you woke up the first day of the theater date with a cold to end all colds and a case of laryngitis like you never had before.

So you call a doctor and he gives you something that helps a little, but tells you not to use your voice for a few days.

So you do the date anyway, and sing, and pray that you won't crack on the high notes, and you feel rotten and wonder why the heck you ever got into this business anyway.

'FRUITS OF VICTORY'

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

Long Time No Sky... Too Tiny for Tiny...

A LOFT—Ivan B. Leaman, manager of the Pottstown A & P market, hadn't been up in an airplane since his World War I days in France in 1919. Then the intrepid flyers took their lives in their hands when they went aloft in those biplane crates. Leaman didn't really know what flying was, though, until he won a free ride at the air show at Pottstown Municipal airport Sunday. Then, after an aerial ride, he chuckled: "It was great, terrific!"... Spectators got only one real, personal scare during the show. John Tyson, a member of the Pilot club which staged the show, likes to make landings and takeoffs with sharp altitude changes. "The Flying Farmer" was coming in for a landing over Glasgow road when the plane appeared to fall directly toward the ground. A dozen spectators, walking beside the road, reacted much like strapping victims in the war. Flailing wildly, they hit for cover, only to have Tyson rein in his plane a good 15 feet over their heads. He was at a dead stop in less than 100 feet...

WHEN THE world's smallest all-metal plane was wheeled onto the air show field, Stowe, one spectator viewed it with incomprehension. Ralph Weiss, fifth ward councilman, seated on the speaker's wagon, winced as he watched the lean owner and designer of the tiny ship, David Long, of Lock Haven, wedge himself tightly into the pilot's niche. Glancing from the plane to their huge companion, councilman chums on the wagon urged Weiss to try to get into the cockpit but, pleading the lack of a shoe-horn, he declined.

CONVENTIONERS—Four Pottstown insurance men will attend a New York convention of the Colonial Life Insurance company later this week. They're W. F. O'Dell Jr., Harold B. Sloan, J. Donald Reed and Curtis W. Wack. The confab's scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday... Pfc. Robert J. Yost, 10 Second avenue, Royersford, is serving with the US Army in Kyoto, Japan... There's hope! The old saying "You can't teach an old dog new tricks" has been debunked by the American Association for Adult Education. The association sponsored a survey which discovered that a person's ability to learn does not noticeably decrease in middle age.

GIVE AWAY DEPT—Irving Mahr, Pottstown RD 4, has a female Belgian police dog, one year old, which he will give away to a person telephoning 1210... Mrs. Jennie Salamek, Squirrel Hollow road, Douglassville, has to give away a buff colored beagle hound, five months old, female. Phone 104-J-3... John A. Evanstad, formerly of 42 Custer court, Penn village, was promoted to the grade of corporal with the First Cavalry division of the US Army in Tokyo, Japan.

VIOLATION—Did you know that freedom of the press, freedom of speech, and freedom from fear were violated by law soon after the United States Constitution was written? The "Alien and Sedition" laws, passed in 1798, made it a crime to criticize the President and Congress. The laws were voted bitterly and were soon repealed... E. St. Elmo Lewis, nationally known advertising expert, defines salesmanship as "the ability to make people want what they already need."

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

IT sometimes happens that one disease will bring on another. Diabetes is a case in point. This condition occurs when the pancreas—a gland located in the abdomen—fails to make enough insulin, the substance which enables the body to use sugar properly.

We don't know just what the connection is between this disease and hardening of the arteries, but physicians are well aware that diabetic patients readily develop complications of this kind. Of course, hardened arteries are bound to develop to some extent in elderly people, but the process takes place earlier and more frequently in those with diabetes.

Fifty to 70 percent of all diabetics, for instance, develop hardening of the arteries of the retina or back part of the eyeball. As a result, these arteries frequently break and bleeding into the retina occurs. Such bleeding may develop without interfering with the eyesight and may stop with or without treatment.

Recently it has been found that changes in the retina, which accompany diabetes, are, in most instances, associated with a decrease in the amount of protein in the blood. A high protein diet therefore has been advised in such cases.

Hardening of the arteries in the legs is common in the patient with diabetes. This, of course, interferes with the circulation in the legs and may be responsible for pain and other symptoms. The pain in such cases is present when the patient is resting. There may also be some color changes in the skin and a sensation of cold. These symptoms indicate that the damage to the arteries is severe.

Treatment in such instances consists of efforts to improve the circulation. In some cases, cutting of the nerves which control the action of the muscles and the blood vessel walls may be helpful. If interference with the circulation is so severe as to lead to death of the tissues, treatment with penicillin is of value in controlling the infection.

Damage to the blood vessels in the kidneys also may occur in diabetes. It is found particularly in mild or moderately severe diabetes together with high blood pressure.

Hardening of the arteries in the brain also occurs, but the symptoms do not differ from those which develop in patients who do not have diabetes.

Hollywood

By JACK PAAR

(Guest columnist for Edith Gwynn)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27—Trying to write a movie column for Edith Gwynn is an humbling and embarrassing situation. Like acting. Take love scenes, for instance. You might walk on the set and the director might say, "Jack, this is Rosalind Russell. She plays your girl friend in the picture and we want you to do a romantic, passionate scene." You haven't even been introduced by a mutual friend (a director is no man's friend) and you're supposed to make love! How would you feel?

Maybe I haven't got it in me to be an actor. I was the only child performer ever booed at a church social.

IF HOLLYWOOD can be likened to a star-studded heaven, I guess I'm the planet Saturn — everyone knows I'm there but no one can see me. Friendly producers are always telling me, "Jack, we're saving you for bigger things." I've been saved for so long I feel like a mass of string.

Of course, I have been in pictures — and I think you will like my split-second timing. If you catch me in the split-second, I'm on the screen. Oh, well, it's a living, and I'm learning what it means to work for "coffee and cakes." Everyone else goes to the cashier's window but I get my salary at the bakery.

Another nice feature of working in these pictures was that it enabled me to pass the cop at the studio gate with a clear conscience. Up until then I always felt guilty when the man in blue gave me the once-over as I walked by. A guy with a tan, bow-tie, a plaid sport jacket — and no picture credits. What could I be? A bookie?!

MAYBE I'M HAVING all this trouble because I started as a radio comedian. Motion picture humor is much different. Playing comedy for the camera is like auditioning for a new sponsor. No one laughs! The net effect is the same as if you expected a roll of thunder to follow dropping a pebble into the Grand Canyon! There are sure a lot of characters in this business. I even met a movie star who didn't wear sunglasses!

The experience you get in movies helps you in many ways. I've said "dinner is served" so many times in my pictures that I got a job as a producer's butler. I always address the producer of a picture I'm working on as "My dear sir" — although he's none of the three. I don't know why everybody knows producers. They're not so bad. Some try, a few are sincere — and, let's face it — a few even know what they're doing.

Casting directors always try to compare you to someone else. One said I was like a tall Alan Ladd. Another told me I reminded him of Kay Kyser — but with warmth! Actually, I'm an old Donald O'Connor. I've made three pictures so far and I feel like a Presbyterian Barry Fitzgerald. But then, this is a strange business. One day you're putting your footprints in cement, the next day you're back mixing it!

JOBS UPON A TIME

Youngest of the big-name band leaders, Elliot Lawrence also is one of the most colorful. He also got as early a start as any. Born in Philadelphia St. Valentine's Day, 1925, Elliot made his professional debut at the age of three when he "conducted" a kid band on a radio program. He started piano study at four and composed his first work, "Falling Down Stairs," at the age of six. He was a child victim of infantile paralysis. At 11 he organized a 15-piece kid orchestra. Six of the original "Bandbustlers" and vocalist Rosalind Patton still are with Lawrence.

A mistake, so common to most men of criticizing his wife's hat, made Kenneth Hopkins the leading hat designer on the West coast. Hopkins was born in Spokane, Wash., and attended art school in San Francisco. He painted canvases which never sold, so turned his talents to window decorating, a more lucrative profession. The girl he married replied one day, when he criticized her new hat, "Why not make me one yourself?" He did. It was such a success her friends wanted to buy it right off her head.

MODERN MANNERS
For girls: After a girl becomes 14 years of age she seeks to be known by her actual name and not a nickname. Thus, on her calling card she is "Miss Elizabeth Brown," never "Miss Betsy Brown."

Scout Troops Open Fall Programs With Full Attendance

Emerging from a summertime lull, Pottstown area Boy Scout troops were in full swing last night, with attendance up to par and plans developing for Autumn activities.

Thirteen scouts of Troop 7 observed Pennsylvania Week by touring the Pottstown Manufacturing company plant, South Pottstown, following the regular troop meeting in Searles Memorial Methodist church.

Conducted by Wilmer S. Moyer, troop committeeman and plant employee, the trip included action demonstrations of work at turret lathes, milling machines and polishing wheels.

At the troop meeting, the scouts made "javelins" of rolled newspapers, and had a contest to see which scout could hurl them the farthest. They also made "skeletons" of light wood after measuring the bone dimensions of several scouts.

The meeting was in charge of Scoutmaster John Jacob, and Arthur Jacob and Joseph Whalen, assistant scoutmasters.

TROOP 15 MADE plans for its annual hayride, tentatively set for Oct. 11 at 7:30 p. m., with about eight scouts expected, plus a quota of girls.

Carl Stahl, senior patrol leader in charge of the meeting in Grace Lutheran church, inspected the uniforms of the nine scouts present. This was followed by a true-and-false relay between the Pioneer and Indian patrols.

STOWE TROOP 1 took attendance honors as 14 gathered in St. Paul's Reformed church for a meeting highlighted by a game session, including "Hide-the-Scout" as entertainment and a knot-relay as instruction.

Richard Marks reviewed tenderfoot requirements, and the meeting ended with a discussion of a parents' campfire program set for Oct. 11 in a woods near West King street.

The meeting was in charge of Scoutmaster Paul Miller and Stanley Boyer, his assistant.

TROOP 18'S MEETING in St. James Lutheran church was centered around a first-aid theme, with Scoutmaster Edward Jameson leading a demonstration of proper use of bandages.

The troop has adopted a new plan of concentrating on a different merit badge each week, with the topic for next week.

Richard Fisher was assigned the task of making a box to hold the troop's new cutlery, and the meeting ended with a game period.

Coming events are Green Bar patrol and troop committee meetings tonight, when plans will be made to mark the group's second anniversary in November, and a trip to Muhlenberg college, Allentown, Nov. 13.

TEN SCOUTS OF Troop 4, meeting in First Methodist church, welcomed Harry Kern as a new member.

Scoutmaster Gene Shellenberger led instruction in lashing, necessary to form rafts, tables or tripods—illustrating with sheer, square and diagonal lashings.

Before turning to a game period, the scouts discussed the trip to Camp Delmont planned for Nov. 19-21, and the graduation ceremony to be held jointly with Cub Pack 62.

Philadelphia Orchestra Cancels Concert Season

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27 (AP)—Harl MacDonald, manager of the Philadelphia orchestra, announced today that the organization's 1948-49 season had been canceled.

He said the decision was reached after board members decided unanimously they could not meet demands for a higher minimum pay scale for members of the orchestra as demanded by Local 77 of the AFI-Federation of Musicians.

High Court Weighs New Balles Appeal

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27 (AP)—The State superior court took under advisement today the appeal of George W. Balles Jr. from his second conviction on a morals charge involving his conduct with an 11-year-old girl pupil of the private school he operated.

Balles, 35-year-old headmaster of the now defunct Warmminster Academy, was sentenced April 5 to two-and-a-half to five years and fined $2000 upon conviction of attempted rape of the girl. He was tried four times and convicted once previously.

Defense counsel today offered five objections to the Chester county trial, claiming the presiding judge failed to properly define the various crimes charged.

Although it is officially Kearney, Neb., the town is said to have been named after Gen. Stephen Watts Kearny.

Navy to Sink Survivors Of Bikini Bomb Tests

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Navy announced today it will sink two radioactive warships during amphibious training operations off southern California on October 5.

The doomed ships are the submarine Skate and the attack transport Crittenden which were used in the Bikini atom bomb tests.

The Navy said it will dispose of them in line with its policy of sinking Bikini target ships which can not be economically scrapped or repaired.

Held in Killing of Father

Russell Boulay, 16, stands with police at Somerset, Mass., after fatal shooting of his father during an argument in their home. Russell said his father, Joseph Boulay, 56, a taxi operator, tried to block his exit from the house. The boy held a rifle. The elder Boulay died instantly when a bullet struck his chest.

Probers Release Background on Persons Recommended for Prosecution as Red Spies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The House un-American activities committee report gave this background for the four persons against whom it recommended prosecution:

Clarence Francis Hickey
BORN JULY 5, 1912, in Milwaukee, Wis., graduated from La Crosse, Wis., high school, attended La Crosse State Teachers college, and awarded B. S., M. A. and Ph. D. degrees by the University of Wisconsin.

Described in a military intelligence report as "active in Communist movements" while attending Wisconsin. Quoted as calling this country's form of government "no good" and that of Russia a "model."

Commissioned a second lieutenant in the chemical warfare reserve in 1938 on the basis of his education and ROTC training.

Instructor in chemistry at the University of Tennessee from 1939 to 1941, then for five months a chemist with the Tennessee Valley authority at Sheffield, Ala. After that, until September, 1942, "instructor in chemistry at Columbia university."

Invited in 1942, on the recommendation of Dr. Harold Urey, atomic bomb scientist, to do atomic research at the "Sam" laboratory then operating at Columbia.

Moved with the laboratory to the University of Chicago in September, 1943, and shifted to the metallurgical laboratory where he remained until April 28, 1944, when he was ordered to active duty in the Army for limited service.

Committee testimony by a Manhattan district colonel said authorities were "convinced that he was a subversive agent" and an Army assignment in Alaska "counting underwear" was the service's solution on what to do with him.

Transferred later to the South Pacific and came out of the service in 1944 as a captain, authorities not having interfered with normal promotion.

Now professor of analytical chemistry at the Polytechnic Institute in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Marjorie Sand Hickey
FIRST WIFE OF Clarence Hickey, whom he met while attending the University of Wisconsin.

"Allegedly Marjorie, subject's wife, was a Communist."

The couple lived for two years with a man whose brother was later president of the Young Communist league, an organization cited as subversive by the attorney general.

Testified before the committee that she was not a Communist but refused, under her constitutional immunity from giving answers that might incriminate or degrade her, to say whether she ever had been one.

John Hitchcock Chapin
BORN Aug. 18, 1913, at Rutland, Vt., graduated from Cornell university in 1935 with a bachelor's degree in chemistry and awarded a Ph. D. in chemistry at the University of Illinois in 1939.

Employed in Du Pont chemical concerns first at Belle, W. Va. remained with Du Pont until the fall of 1942, when he joined the "Sam" laboratory. Transferred to the metallurgical laboratories in Chicago he remained there until the Spring of 1943.

Released by the laboratories in 1943 upon a reduction of force incident to a cut in research work. Employed then for a time in the plastics department of the General Electric company, Pittsfield, Mass., moving later to the M. W. Kellogg company.

Relieved of that post on demand of the Air Force because Kellogg was engaged in secret Air Force development work.

Now employed by a brewery in Newark, N. J.

First met Hickey at the "Sam" laboratories and became friendly with him after they moved to Chicago.

Denied in committee testimony that he ever had been a Communist but said he once felt strongly that the atom bomb secret should be shared with all the Allies.

Said under further questioning that now he did not think he "would be willing to risk the security of the American people by delivering to Russia the secret of the atom bomb."

party newspaper Daily Worker in New York in 1931, and has contributed numerous articles to Communist publications.

Seen in Russia in 1934, under the name of Louis Evans, apparently taking Communist instruction.

Listed by the "Daily Worker" as a section organizer for the party in Luzerne county, Pa., in 1936. Communist party candidate for the Pennsylvania legislature the same year, from Wilkes-Barre.

Reported by the Daily Worker in 1937 as having been wounded in the civil war in Spain, as commissar of a brigade.

Listed by Earl Browder in 1939 as a member of the national committee of the Communist party, and reported by the Daily Worker in 1940 as a member of the central committee of the national committee.

Listed as county chairman of the Communist party of San Francisco in 1941.

Described by the Daily Worker in 1944 as a member of the national committee of the Communist political association.

Questioned when the committee questioned him, Sept. 14, to answer any pertinent questions, saying answers might tend to incriminate him.

Borough Briefs

Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kiley, of the Second ward, will send summonses to four motorists for alleged violations of the motor vehicle code.

A. F. Stewart, 210 River road, South Pottstown, is charged by Patrolman Charles Stetler with passing a red light at High and Charlotte streets at 8:10 o'clock the past Sunday night. Stewart was traveling west on High street at the time of the alleged violation.

Stetler also charged John McGuigan, Bridgeport, with traveling at a fast rate of speed and with cutting in and out of eastbound traffic on High street. McGuigan was stopped at High and Hanover streets at 4:33 o'clock the past Saturday afternoon.

A reckless driving was lodged against Andrew L. Hansley, Pottstown RD 1, by Patrolman Thomas Corum. Hansley, who was going north on Washington street, was stopped at 12:10 o'clock the past Friday morning when he made a right hand turn onto Walnut street in a reckless manner.

Ervin M. Boronski, Perkiomenville RD 1, was stopped at High and Franklin streets by Patrolman Michael Shanta at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, Sept. 18. Shanta charged him with making unnecessary noise with his motorcycle as he was traveling west on High street.

De Gaullists, Reds Clash In Strikebound Le Havre

LE HAVRE, France, Sept. 27 (AP)—Communists and followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle clashed in the streets of Le Havre today. Six persons were injured, three on each side.

The port was tied up by a Communist-called 24-hour strike, affecting 20,000 workers. About 600 Communists marched through the streets with an effigy of De Gaulle which they said they were going to throw into the harbor.

De Gaullists managed to seize the effigy and destroy it. The fight broke up before police arrived.

Easy Job Tracing Thief Who Provides Address

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Sept. 27 (AP)—Detectives who followed the thief which led to arrest of Martin Hanley on a burglary charge told a judge today it was nothing, really.

They found the 24-year-old seaman's national identity card and a number of letters addressed to him which he carelessly left in a rifled drug store cash box.

Hanley was sentenced to nine months.

TUGS REACH ABANDONED SHIP
HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 27 (AP)—Two tugs have found the British merchant Leicester 900 miles southeast of Halifax and are towing her to Bermuda as a salvage prize, port authorities said today.

Experts Say Stalin Misinformed But Still
In Control, Wrecked Berlin Pact Himself

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — Premier Stalin probably was, and is, a victim of misinformation and bad advice, but he was not overruled on the Berlin agreement, nor has he lost control of his own government.

On the contrary, all intelligence reports available in Washington indicate that he is still the whip-handed master.

It appears, in the light of this information that Stalin himself aborted the Berlin agreement, although he had expressed a desire to dissolve the deadlock there, had helped to formulate the terms, and presumably has approved them.

This fact—the failure to carry out a bargain that bore Stalin's own seal—caused a good deal of speculation when the American white paper was released yesterday. Three probabilities were posed in the effort to explain this apparent contradiction:

1. Was Stalin over-ruled, after having made the agreement?
2. Did the arguments of the other members of the Politburo cause him to change his mind, after the solution was formulated and before it was put into effect?
3. Or, acting on mistaken information, did he mis-gauge the effect of the agreement, and therefore reverse his own position?

Washington experts, sifting and re-studying reports—not only from Moscow and Berlin, but from all over Europe—believe the third hypothesis is the correct one. They believe the answer to Stalin's baffling tactic lies elsewhere than in Berlin.

IN THE BERLIN TALKS, Stalin's main objective was to bring about a cancellation of the plan to set up a government in Western Germany. The decision to explore the possibility of such a government was taken in London, by the United States, Britain and France, some months before. A convocation of German officials was called for Sept. 1.

Russia consistently opposed this plan. Stalin himself referred to it, according to the white paper, on a number of occasions during the Moscow talks that finally produced the Berlin agreement.

The white paper notes: "Stalin wished it recorded as the insistent desire of the Soviet government that the execution of the London decisions with respect to the establishment of a Western German government be suspended until such time as the four powers met and tried to reach an agreement concerning Germany."

Throughout the talks, Stalin virtually made this the price for an agreement to lift the blockade on Berlin, and settle the other questions outstanding there between the Soviets and the three western powers.

At the same time, intelligence reports show, a message was broadcast to the satellite governments of Eastern Europe, to the Communist headquarters, and to the leaders of Communist parties elsewhere in the world.

IT WAS A STAND-BY message. It instructed them to be prepared for "a propaganda victory of the first magnitude," and to be ready to exploit the "victory" in their respective areas.

This comes from a Washington source that cannot be quoted. The same source holds the belief that the expected "victory" would be the announcement that the plans to begin discussions with the Germans for a Western German government had been cancelled, or at least postponed.

The American ambassador to Russia, W. Bedell Smith, pointed out, during the discussions, that there was no connection between the Berlin problem and the question of Western Germany. The white paper shows, also, that his statement was buttressed by a separate instruction from Washington.

Nevertheless, it appears that Stalin thought his objective would be gained, and that, in the end, the Western powers would agree to his terms.

Why did he come to this conclusion?

For a long time, diplomatic sources, both American and non-American, have been expressing doubt that Stalin is kept fully informed about international affairs. Some evidence exists that accurate information, adequately analyzed, has been kept from him.

IN A DICTATOR - system, to transmit bad news—along with the frank evaluation of it as bad news, is not healthy for the person transmitting it.

Russian experts in the State department assert that this exists all the way down the line. That is, that Russian officials at the lower echelons are simply to present hard facts to the periphery, that ambassadors to their reports to Moscow, and Molotov tempers his to Stalin.

An American diplomat had some personal dealings with the Kremlin, put it this way: "I came to the conclusion Stalin wasn't getting all the and so I insisted, whenever possible, on seeing him, rather than Molotov."

"On one occasion, I was a show him, by the record, separate instances where in the had been omitted or misstated."

CONSEQUENTLY, WASHINGTON observers believe that, originally embarked on the path of abandonment of the plan, Western Germany—would be. He carried the discussions to a point where the agreement was actually drawn. He may have told, during all this time, that the U. S. and England not maintain the airlift very longer, because of the approach of Winter, and that they would not alternative other than to cede to his wishes.

2. Or, that rather than show-down on their ability in Berlin, they would ditch the Frankfurt project.

Acting on the belief that Stalin is not fully informed, analysts here consider it probable that the generalissimo not know about the success of the airlift, about repeated American determination to remain in Berlin about the hardening of American attitude toward European problem as a whole.

Hence when the great "ganda victory" could not be claimed, observers believe, simply gave the order to a Soviet agent, the Russian, to make a statement in Berlin, to sabotage the agreement.

Don't Burp Baby While It's Feeding, Mothers Are Told

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Don't interrupt baby's feeding to make him "burp."

But "burp" him, of course, if he seems to be in distress.

A Washington baby specialist gave this advice to mothers today.

Dr. William F. Burdick, of Georgetown university school of medicine, said the common practice of "burping" the baby—that is, trying to make him belch at intervals during and after his feedings—might be a cause of "spitting up" and vomiting in some babies.

Dr. Burdick's suggestion followed another new twist on "burping" advanced the past week by the Connecticut State Health department, which said: Don't "burp" the baby by holding him over your shoulder. Otherwise, he may get a sagging stomach and have poor posture when he grows up.

THE CORRECT WAY, the Connecticut health advisory said, is to hold the baby across mother's lap with his head higher than his feet, his lower abdomen resting on mother's knee, and gently stroke his back.

Dr. Burdick told the 19th Scientific Assembly of the District of Columbia Medical Society.

"It is a common practice of some of our practical nurses and mothers as well, to stop the baby at the end of each ounce of formula consumed, throw him over her shoulder, and thump him on the back until he eructs gas."

"It would seem far better when the baby is sucking and taking his formula well to let him continue without interruption until he is satisfied and then to let him go off to sleep as he wants to."

"The nurses in our hospital nurseries are taught that this (burping) procedure must be carried out and all the baby books written for mothers stress its importance."

"No doubt it may at times serve some useful purpose, but often it is carried too far."

COMMENTING ON "FEEDING problems" among growing children, Dr. Burdick said a child should never be forced to eat any food that might be disagreeable to him as an individual—even if it's milk.

"I have the notion," he said, "that in our drive towards better nutrition, milk has been em-

Raps Congress

William Green (above), president of the AFL, said last night in a radio address that the 80th Congress "tried to turn the clock of progress backward." He added that the Republican-controlled Congress represented in reality a "minority" of the American people because, only one-third of the nation voted in 1946 when the GOP seized control of Congress.

phazized too much. The dairies, nutritionists and physicians have made some of these mothers too serious about getting in a quart of milk a day.

"A pint is enough anyway, and there are a fair number of children who do better on no milk at all and a larger number who will do a better job of their own nutrition if they are allowed only skimmed milk."

Corn Roast Scheduled For Thursday by AOPA

The Pottstown chapter of the Airplane Owners and Pilots association will hold its last outdoor meeting of the year Thursday night at the Summer cottage of James J. Moore, a member.

Planned as a corn roast to begin at 6:30 o'clock, the affair also will feature talks on flying by John Basco, manager of Municipal airport, Stowe, and Wesley Nyce, owner of the Pottstown airport, Limerick.

Moore's cottage is situated near the intersection of Swamp pike and Pleasantview roads. The way will be marked.

Dr. Sheppard to Head Medical Centennial Unit

Dr. Alice E. Sheppard, Pottstown physician, will be chairman of the section on the general practice of medicine at the centennial celebration of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, it was announced yesterday.

The celebration will be held in Convention Hall and will run from Sunday through Thursday next week. Many Pottstown physicians are scheduled to attend one or more of the day-long meetings.

A religious hour will open the celebration Sunday afternoon in the Irvine auditorium of the University of Pennsylvania. The five-day meeting will be highlighted at the installation session Tuesday by the appearance of the Bach Festival Chorus and the Baltimore and Ohio Glee club.

Dr. Sheppard's session on the general practice of medicine will be conducted Wednesday morning.

Warren Asks More Power for State, Local Governments

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. Sept. 27 (AP) — Gov. Earl Warren declared tonight that government must be revitalized at the state and local level if the nation's faith in its governmental processes is to be preserved.

Coming for the first time into New England, the No. 2 Republican made decentralization of federal governmental controls a "must" for future national policy.

The Republican vice presidential candidate said that in recent years the American people have been "propagandized" to depend upon decisions by a paternal and centralized federal government, and to expect "white rabbits" from the hat of some government agency.

"There is no magic in Washington," Warren asserted in an address at a Republican rally at Springfield's municipal auditorium.

"It is about time we revive the interest of the nation in state government."

"IT SHOULD BE OUR national policy to encourage the states, strengthen their will to find, and act upon, as many of our problems as possible under modern conditions."

There are, he said, no "dreaded-up cure-alls," no "nicely wrapped-up formulas," no "nostrums" which can be "concocted within the walls of some little room in a Washington public building" to answer all the complex questions now plaguing the American people.

Warren's arrival here capped a day of campaigning through the Mohawk valley of Northern New York state from Buffalo.

A record crowd of between 5000 and 6000 gave him a roaring welcome at Albany, the official home of the Republican standard-bearer, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

In calling tonight for a return of government to the people, Warren extolled the principle of the New England town meeting.

"THE POLICIES—AND too often the propaganda—of the national government," he said, "have been designed to make the American people believe that there is no virtue in State and local government, that they are not to be trusted with functions of government having to do with human welfare."

"It has been administration policy, he asserted, to make the people believe that only a highly centralized national government, seeing all, knowing all, and doing all, can effectively meet our responsibilities for us."

"I do not believe that approach is in the spirit of the American system," Warren said.

"We must revive our faith in government close to the people, and to a greater extent than ever before the States and the local governments that were designed to keep it that way."

At Syracuse, N. Y., Warren said he viewed the foreign situation of the moment as "extremely delicate" and urged a firm and realistic policy by the United States in its dealings with Russia.

COMPANY OFFICIAL FINED

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27 (AP) — Joseph H. Eubanks, secretary-treasurer of the V. & E. Products company, Schuylkill Haven boiler manufacturers, was fined $750 in Federal District court today for withholding around $500 in "overtime" pay from 10 employees.

Says Man Has Strange Powers That Works While He Sleeps

A strange man in Los Angeles, known as "The Voice of Two Worlds" reveals the story of a remarkable system that often leads to improvement in power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Many report improvement in health. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

The man, a well-known explorer and geographer, tells how he found these strange methods in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. He discloses how he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats. He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

He maintains that man, instead of being limited by one-man-power-mind, has within him the mind-power of a thousand men or more as well as the energy-power of the universe which can be used in his daily affairs. He states that this sleeping giant of mind-power, when awakened, can make man capable of surprising accomplishments, from the prolonging of youth to success in many fields. Strangely, he says that this power works best while he slept, when proper methods are used.

The author states the time has come for this long-hidden system to be disclosed to the Western world, and offers to send his amazing 8000-word treatise which reveals many startling results—to readers of this paper free of cost or obligation. For your free copy, address the Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. 715-G, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free treatises have been printed.

Mrs. Nancy Fletcher Choremil (above), who recently received a suspended three-month sentence on a vice charge, left New York yesterday for Casablanca. She was accompanied by her husband and their five-year-old son. She said she planned to visit her father, U. S. consul general at Casablanca.

Dogs of Celebrities 'Muzzled' by Judge

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — If a dog howls, he's an annoyance—even if he does belong to Winston Churchill.

So said Judge Stedman Prescott of Montgomery county, Md., circuit court today in directing owners of a large kennel to keep their dogs from disturbing the neighborhood. The kennel at Ashton, Md., houses from 40 to 70 dogs, it was testified, and some of the pups belonged to such noted people as Winston Churchill, Henry A. Wallace and Marlene Dietrich.

Said Judge Prescott: "These are very prominent personages, but it is difficult to discern any difference in the annoyance caused by a large group of howling dogs, whether owned by a prime minister, a movie star, a former vice president or just a commonplace person like one's self."

The prominence of the owner certainly wouldn't lessen the irritation of whines, howls and barks, he said.

"Indeed, if recent news items can be believed, the 'barking' of at least one of the well-known owners has been distinctly disagreeable to people in certain sections of this country," he commented.

The injunction was brought by Sam Rice, former outfielder for the Washington Senators, and now a resident of Ashton.

Rice said the noise from the dogs changed him from a dog lover of 50 years' standing to a man just about cured of dogs.

Iraqi Envoy to U. S., Defense Minister Resign

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Sept. 27 (AP) — Resignations of Iraq's defense minister and of her ambassador to Washington were announced today by the government.

No reason was given for the resignation of Sadi Albasan, appointed defense minister June 26.

It was said Ali Jawdat Alayubi, Iraqi ambassador to Washington who has been in Baghdad for the last several months, resigned because of ill health.

Bally Ceremony Celebrates Fall Wedding Of Alma Stengel and Charles Sharrow Jr.

Miss Alma H. Stengel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stengel, Bally, and Charles W. Sharrow Jr., son of Charles W. Sharrow Sr., of Bally, were married on Saturday morning, September 18, at 9:30 o'clock in the Church of the Most Blessed Sacrament, Bally. The Rev. B. H. Creamer, rector of St. Columbkille's church, Boyertown, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin with a low-cut neckline, long tight sleeves pointed over the hand, fitted bodice and a long graceful skirt. From the braided net crown on her head fell a fingertip-length net veil. The bridal bouquet consisted of a white orchid with a purple eye and houndstail.

Clothilda Stengel, sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor. She wore a toast-colored taffeta gown styled with a high round neckline, cap sleeves, fitted bodice, bustle back and full skirt. She wore a matching picture hat and carried a bouquet of purple gladiolas and cabbage roses.

Mrs. Paul Schultz and Loretta Stengel, also sisters of the bride, wore the same type and color of gown as the one worn by the maid of honor.

ROBERT STENGEL, brother of the bride, was best man, while the ushers were two brothers-in-law, Michael Kriczy and Paul Schultz. Mrs. Stengel, mother of the bride, wore a street-length tan dress and a corsage of white orchids.

A breakfast for the bridal party was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Later in the afternoon, a reception was held for friends and relatives at Rippling Glen bungalow, Bally.

The newlyweds are residing at the home of the bride's parents.

Katherine Spaatz to Live With Husband in England

Miss Katherine Spaatz, Boyertown, daughter of Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, former chief of staff of the Air Force, and Mrs. Spaatz, who recently was married to Walter F. Bell, Sussex, England, will make her home in that country.

General Spaatz gave his daughter in marriage to the young Englishman. The recent bride served with the Red Cross in Europe during the war. Bell is attached to the British

Elenora Moyer Dies In Allentown Hospital

Elenora B. Moyer, 63, New Berlinville, died early yesterday morning in Sacred Heart hospital, Allentown, where she had been a patient the past four weeks.

A native of Upper Hanover township, Montgomery county, she was a daughter of the late Peter and Dianna (Baus) Moyer. She was a member of the church of the Good Shepherd Evangelical and Reformed, Boyertown, and the home department of its Sunday school.

Surviving are a sister, Gertrude, wife of James H. Romig, New Berlinville; five nieces and four nephews.

Funeral services were set for Thursday at 2 p. m. from a funeral home at 124 West Philadelphia avenue, Boyertown, the Rev. Harper L. Schneck officiating. Burial in Fairview cemetery.

MILLER BABY BAPTIZED

Marjorie Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Y. Miller, was baptized by the Rev. David F. Longacre, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church on Sunday, Sept. 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Effenger M. Erb, the maternal grandparents. The parents were the sponsors.

Lenape Pigeonaires Fly Race From Orange, Va.

The Lenape Pigeon Club flew its first 200-mile young bird race from Orange, Va., on Saturday, Sept. 25. A tough race was flown with strong north winds bucking the birds all the way. 140 pigeons from 10 lofts were entered, and the winners homed to the loft of Thomas Forsythe and Son, Barto. The birds were released at 8 a. m. and Forsythe clocked them in at 2:28 and 2:29 p. m. with first and second honors.

The results were: Thomas Forsythe and Son, 905.76 yards per minute; Thomas Forsythe & Son, 903.93 y. p. m.; Wayne Reigner, 869.81 y. p. m.; Elam House, 859.96 y. p. m.; W. and H. Bombers Faster Than First Jet Fighters

Air Force Tells Of Jet Bombers With Great Speed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Air Force disclosed today it has two jet bombers faster than early models of the B-29 Superfortress. It rated one bomber at more than 600 miles an hour.

This is the Boeing B-47 Stratojet, a six engine warplane of radical design about the size and weight of the B-29 Superfortress. It will be produced at Boeing's Wichita, Kans., plant.

The other speedy bomber is the North American B-45, a four engine jet of conventional shape weighing 41 tons and rated in the "550 MPH class."

Air Force Secretary Symington disclosed in New York, Saturday, that a jet bomber "ran away from jet fighters," but gave no details. Other Air Force officials released additional information today.

BOTH THE B-47 and the B-45 are faster than the "A" and "B" models of the F-80 which are in general service with the Air Force. Those models will be replaced by the F-80C, which has a speed of 600 miles an hour compared with 500 to 550 MPH for the earlier types.

The B-47 probably is faster than the F-80C and may be faster than the Republic F-4 Thunderjet. However, it is not likely to match the speed of the North American F-86 which, recently, raised the world's speed record to 670 miles an hour without using full power.

In addition to its six jet engines hung under the wing, the B-47 has 18 rocket motors installed in its fuselage.

Mediator Urges U. N. to Accept Bernadotte Plan

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 27 (AP)—Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting United Nations mediator in Palestine, appealed to the general assembly today to approve Count Folke Bernadotte's recommendations.

Bunche, in a message broadcast from Rhodes and picked up at U. N. headquarters here, gave his full support to the Holy Land solution advanced by Bernadotte just before the Swedish count was killed in Jerusalem.

"I am convinced," Bunche said, "that the time is ripe for a settlement of the Palestine dispute and that the conclusions in part one of the mediator's report will provide the most sound and practical means of achieving this end."

"I endorse those conclusions in their entirety and without qualification. I earnestly hope that the general assembly will at an early stage in its deliberations take that decisive action which alone can assure that Count Bernadotte's life and the lives of the five other gallant men who have fallen in Palestine in the service of the United Nations will not have been wasted."

PIN-WORM MYSTERY ENDED

Pin-Worms have been causing trouble for centuries, and millions of victims have suffered. Science has at last solved the problem! It is now also known that Pin-Worm infection spreads rapidly and can cause real distress if neglected. So beware of that aggravating rectal itch, and act fast. Ask your druggist for JAYNE'S P-W at the first sign of Pin-Worms. P-W is a medicaly sound treatment based on an officially approved drug principle. The easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms easily and safely. It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Efforts of Soviets Spies Known by Presidents

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The atomic spying report cited testimony by Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, head of the Manhattan district atom bomb project, to show that President Roosevelt and Truman knew of Russian efforts to spy out nuclear secrets.

Groves was asked by Robert Stripling, investigator for the House committee on un-American activities, if he ever reported Russian efforts in that field to the White House.

He replied "yes," and went on: "It would have to be in 1943. It was contained in a report to the President, which President Roosevelt read in my presence, and the matter was discussed with him. This was just before he left for Yalta."

"It was brought to the attention of President Truman in the first report that was made to President Truman after he took office, which was as soon after his taking office as the secretary of war could make an appointment, and on that occasion, the written memorandum was read by Mr. Truman."

The report then complained of "efforts of the executive to withhold from the American people and from duly constituted committees of the legislative branch, information as to the existence of the Communist espionage apparatus in the United States and as to its operations during World War II."

An another section the report stated:

"The facts which the committee has uncovered are not facts, the committee has reason to believe, uncovered for the first time. Conclusive evidence as to their existence is doubtless in the files of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Manhattan engineering district, and that evidence has been officially before the attorney general and the President since shortly after the incidents in question occurred."

BONHAM, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP)—Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith conferred with President Truman tonight and said relations with Russia are very "critical" but not on the verge of war.

Smith told reporters conditions at no time since the war have been more critical.

Asked whether that means we are going to war, Smith replied: "That's too deep for me to answer. But I'll modify critical and say serious. I don't by 'critical' mean we are trembling on the verge of war."

"If our present policy of firmness, patience and determination is followed, you don't necessarily have to face the ultimate."

Smith flew to Texas from Washington to confer with the chief executive for some 3 1/2 hours while Mr. Truman's campaign train was rolling from Dallas to Bonham.

THE PRESIDENT RELAYED word to reporters that Smith gave him a "complete and valuable" fill-in on the crisis in Berlin.

Smith himself said he was able to supplement messages he had been sending to Mr. Truman.

Smith talked informally with reporters in the press car of the campaign train.

Before switching his description of present relations with Russia from "critical" to "serious" Smith said he thought he was reflecting the President's views and he certainly was expressing his own.

A reporter told him there was an impression growing from the presence of Premier Stalin, that the Moscow talks among Britain, France, Russia and the United States were going reasonably well. He asked if their failure had been anticipated.

Smith said he thought a State department news release covered the subject.

To an inquiry whether Soviet foreign policy was designed to "cover up domestic difficulties," the ambassador answered quickly: "No, I don't think so."

Two Officials Appear Before Senate Group On Education Issue

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Two government officials who fell out over how to run the U. S. office of education agreed on one thing today: neither likes Communism. The two, who appeared before a Senate investigation committee, were:

1. Dr. John W. Studebaker, who resigned the past July as U. S. commissioner of education. He said the office was subjected to "partisan" control by the Federal Security administration.

2. Oscar R. Ewing, FSA administrator, who branded as "absolutely untrue" charges brought by Studebaker that FSA hampered an effort by the office of education to foster an anti-Communist program in the nation's schools.

Studebaker testified that Ewing favored a positive program to "sell Democracy" to school children. He said he liked that but also wanted a negative program of anti-Communism.

Red War-Time Diplomats Are Charged With Leading Espionage to Get A-Bomb

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The House un-American activities committee charged today that during the war Russian diplomats in this country "organized and directed several espionage groups made up of American Communists," to get atomic secrets.

In a statement released as it made public a report on its atomic espionage investigation, the committee said these groups "were successful in obtaining and transmitting secret information" concerning the atomic bomb to Soviet spies.

"The committee cannot accurately evaluate the importance or volume of the information thus transmitted," the statement said. "It has been established, however, that certain vital information was actually transmitted to the Russian government, and this information has been and will be of assistance to the Russians in their development of the atomic bomb."

THE COMMITTEE said the failure of the government to prosecute persons involved in wartime espionage "is completely inexcusable."

"A complete and forthright explanation is due the American people of the reasons for this failure," the statement said, adding that further delay "could result in tragic consequences to the United States and to the world."

It said the lack of administration co-operation in the investigation "has amounted practically to obstruction."

The committee said it does not wish to reflect on the loyalty of the great majority of American scientists.

Hunter's Imitation Proves Too Realistic

WOLFSVILLE, Md., Sept. 27 (AP)—C. Wesley Swope Jr., certainly can do a swell imitation of a squirrel's chatter.

The 44-year-old man was out hunting today and trying to lure a squirrel with his imitation. Unknown to him, Swope's father was hunting in the same area.

The elder Swope heard the "squirrel" chattering and fired into the bushes. The shot gun pellets hit the son in the neck, chest and abdomen, but not seriously.

Magnesium metal was first produced in Germany about 1913.

All Committee Chairmen Busily Working For Gay Glitter Extravaganza on Nov. 10

As Nov. 10, the date of the Gay Glitter show drew nearer, Mrs. Ernest V. Hunter, publicity chairman of the event disclosed last night that all committees are working hard at some particular angle of their job to make this the most extravagant and largest show of its kind ever to be staged in Pottstown.

Mrs. George A. Lessig, chairman of the property committee, last night announced the assistants that will help with the one of the hardest and least noticed part of the event.

He co-chairman is Mrs. Lewis Himes, while assisting will be Mrs. Jacob Sotter, Mrs. Van Rensselaer Bayard, Mrs. Richard Hairy, Mrs. Stanley Davenport, Mrs. Anthony Dimaggio, Mrs. James Sellers, Mrs. Elmer Shule, Mrs. Walter Smith, Mrs. Emmanuel Berman, Mrs. Emerson Hewett, Mrs. Richard Scheffer, Mrs. Raymond Dettler, Mrs. John Ziegler, Mrs. Ed Good and Mrs. J. R. Purmote.

Sponsor of the show is the Junior auxiliary of Memorial hospital, with all the proceeds from the event to go into its treasury.

Last year the auxiliary was more than elated at the terrific success of its show, but this year members already are thinking in terms of that being a "small" show, for all events are planned on a greater scale, with added touches of extras.

For instance, this year they will have a parade of male models wearing the accessories and jewels most enhancing to masculine charm and there will be a "perfume pageant."

Then too, prizes and awards will number 150 and will range in value from one to 50 dollars each. Again each person attending will receive gifts of one sort or another.

Ticket sales are off to a lively start, Mrs. Hunter reported last night, with Mrs. Forrest Purnell, committee chairman, and Mrs. Stanley Skean, assistant, reporting that all members of the auxiliary now had tickets as well as the service desk at Kessler's.

Because of the enthusiasm in the affair, the scene has been transferred to Sunnybrook ballroom to accommodate the more than 5000 expected to attend.

Mrs. Albert Kessler, as in former years, will direct and stage the entire production, and every day finds her interviewing models for the joyful task of portraying to the women of Pottstown the latest in jewelry fashions, accessories and perfumes. Thirty-four girls and women are signed up now, with at least 50 to make their appearance the night of the show.

Doggie Roast Enjoyed By Baptist Youngsters

The Junior Youth Fellowship of the First Baptist church held its first Fall get-together in the form of a doggie roast Saturday afternoon at Camp Unami, Sunnyside.

During the afternoon games were played and a hike was enjoyed. After the doggie roast, an out-door vesper service was held.

Those attending were: Billie Schmeiser, David Foley, Nancy Wilson, David Evans, Donna Boyer, Jackie Mohr, Bernice Mohr, Mary Ann Curry, Judy Westcott, Barbara Reininger, Marlene Boatton, Leon Wingfield, Caroline Hanna, Elston Hanna, Jane Musick, Robert Weiser, Peggy Strickland, the Rev. and Mrs. Delaine E. Story, Miss Amelia Reinhardt, Mrs. Helen Strouse, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Thalmer and Mr. and Mrs. Waverly Kiehl.

The group will start their regular Sunday night devotional services Sunday at 6:30 o'clock in the social room of the church.

Messners Entertain With Party for Son

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Messner, 40 Scott street, Penn Village, honored the second birthday anniversary of their son, Eugene, recently with a party in his honor at their home.

Prize winners at the games were Jackie Herb and Ronald Kerper. Following the games, refreshments were served at the dining room table which was decorated with pink, blue and white. Chinese lanterns surrounded the lights while a huge blue and white birthday cake graced the center of the table.

Those attending were: Garry Lee Messner, Mrs. Helen Repko and son, Jerry; Mrs. Grace Aranos and children, Sara, Jennie and Loretta; Mrs. Joseph Motko and children, Jean Ann and Joanne; Jackie and Mary Ann Herb, Louise and Linda Rayson, Mrs. Mary Delbertis and children, Roy, Otto and Francis; Mrs. Ruth Kerper and son, Ronald; Mrs. Florence McCord and niece, Bonnie Joe; Mrs. Bella Messner, Mrs. John Herb, Mrs. Anthony Pasante and children, John and Ellen.

Combine cooked noodles with butter or margarine (melted), poppy seeds and thin slices of blanched almonds for a company dish. It is an excellent accompaniment to chicken or veal paprika.

'Antique Jewelry of Historical Significance,' Mrs. Evelyn Applegate Tells Soroptimists

The important part played by jewelry in the history of the world was explained to the Soroptimist club at a meeting last night in the Clover Leaf restaurant by Mrs. Evelyn T. Applegate, antique dealer.

Mrs. Applegate, who displayed a collection of antique jewelry worth hundreds of dollars, revealed that the Israelites sold their precious jewels to finance their trip into the Promised Land.

The style of jewelry changed from time to time as conquerors vent into their conquered territories and put the jewelry of that land into melting pots and fashioned it into their own styles.

SUPERSTITIOUS Egyptians went into battle wearing rings or armlets supposed to protect them from injury, Mrs. Applegate related.

Women in the reign of Queen Elizabeth wore girdles with household keys, nutmeg holders and toothpicks and other daily necessities dangling from them as useful ornaments.

Helen Hayes, famed actress, was a recent visitor to Mrs. Applegate's shop. The speaker revealed that the "costume" jewelry worn by actresses on the stage may be their own very expensive possessions.

MRS. PAULA SWEISFORD sang several selections, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Gladys S. Marquette. The speaker and vocalist were introduced by Mrs. Gladys Dwyer, program chairman.

"One For The Money," a three act comedy, second in the Fall season, productions of the Manthorne Players, will be sponsored by the Soroptimist club at the Ringing Rocks auditorium at 8:30 o'clock, Saturday night, Nov. 6.

Announcement was made by Miss Ruth E. Benfield, president, of the Fall North Atlantic regional convention to be conducted Oct. 21, 22 and 23 in Reading.

The next business meeting of the club will be held in the Clover Leaf restaurant at 6:30 o'clock Monday night, Oct. 11.

Girl Scouts of Troop 3 Receive New Members

Two new members, Sandra McAndrew and Joan Foley, were signed up last night by the Girl Scouts of Troop 3 at a meeting in St. Aloysius auditorium.

Following the patrol meetings, a short business meeting was held at which time plans for the future were discussed.

Games were played and the meeting closed with the singing of taps. Leaders were Mrs. Helen Zubert and Mrs. Jane Hospador. The next meeting will be held Oct. 4 in the auditorium.

Master Philip Hahn Feted On Birthday Anniversary

Philip Hahn was feted at a surprise party recently given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Hahn, in honor of his seventh birthday anniversary in their home at Cedarville.

Games were played out-doors, and pictures were taken.

Refreshments were served in the dining room which was attractively decorated with autumn leaves fastened to crepe paper streamers which were looped from one end of the ceiling to the other. A large pink and green cake served at the centerpiece, and favors consisted of paper squirrels holding place cards.

Guests were: Bruce Harp, Eddie Quay, Dennis McCrudden, Joyce Layman, Barbara Ann Goss, Pauline Semet, Esther Mae Marquette, Mary Ruth Hahn and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Hahn.

Cream dried beef and mushrooms make an excellent luncheon dish when it is served in toasted bread cups. Accompany it with snap beans or peas, or serve a tossed green salad with it. Currant jelly also makes an addition to such a main course.

Mrs. Beacraft to Head Sanatoga Fire Auxiliary

Mrs. Cora Beacraft was re-elected president of the ladies auxiliary of the Sanatoga fire company last night in the fire hall. All other officers were re-elected with the exception of the vice president.

Officers are as follows: Mrs. Beacraft, president; Mrs. Doris Yarger, vice president; Mrs. Sara Smith, secretary, and Mrs. Sidney Graham, treasurer. Mention was made of the fact that both Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Graham have served as secretary and treasurer, respectively, for 24 years.

The auxiliary is beginning its 25th year this year, and members will celebrate with a covered dish dinner on Thursday, Oct. 14, at 6:30 o'clock in the fire hall.

The committee in charge of the dinner is: Mrs. Ralph Neiman, Mrs. Earl Bender, Mrs. Kenneth Drumheller, Mrs. Betty Swavely and Mrs. Doris Yarger.

Plans were discussed for card parties to be held in the future.

Following a brush demonstration, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Dorothy Drumheller, Mrs. Vernon Rapp and Mrs. John Moore.

Double Wedding Held In Elkton Parsonage

A double wedding ceremony was performed recently in an Elkton, Md., parsonage, when Miss Lucy Rubert became the bride of Mr. John Kovato, and Miss Jean L. Brown and Mr. Steve M. Kovato were united in marriage.

Miss Rubert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rubert, 71 Beech street, Miss Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, Elverson RD 1, and the bridegrooms are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kovato, Mill Park.

The single ring ceremonies were performed by the Rev. R. J. Sturgill, of Elkton, Md.

Mrs. John Kovato is employed at the Pottstown Manufacturing company while her husband is employed at the Keystone Agricultural Works. They are residing at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Kovato are enjoying a honeymoon trip to an undisclosed destination.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Edith Bower, Douglassville, and Mrs. Sallie Fisher, 457 High street, enjoyed a cruise down Chesapeake Bay and a visit to the Naval academy at Annapolis, Md., on Sunday.

Grey, daughter of Mrs. Michael Grey, 234 South street, while the bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob C. Fegely Sr., 330 North York street.

Mrs. Josephine Basile Surprised With Party

Mrs. Josephine Basile, West Race street, Stowe, was completely surprised last night when a group of her friends and neighbors gathered at her home as she was about to dash out the door to go to the movies, to honor her on her birthday anniversary.

Following the opening of the many gifts brought her, a social evening was enjoyed highlighted by the singing of many vocal solos by Mr. Peter Dori, who happened to drop in. Later a luncheon was served with a birthday cake and candles as centerpiece.

Attending were Mrs. Virginia DeFrancesco, Mrs. Peter Dori, Alfred and Marie Dori, Mrs. Albert Basile, Mrs. Lena Jaccetti, Mrs. Salvatore DeFrancesco, Patricia Weil, Mrs. Frank Jaccetti and Omar Kulp.

Surprise Birthday Party Honors Howard Seibold

Howard Seibold was honored at a surprise birthday party Sunday night in his home at Bucktown.

Tiger at Circus Farm Mangles Attendant's Arm

PERU, Ind., Sept. 27 (AP)—A female tiger at the Terrell Jacobs' circus farm attacked an attendant today and mangled his arm so badly that amputation was necessary.

The victim, Frank Shay, 68, was working outside the tiger's cage. The animal caught Shay's right arm through the bars and let go only after blank cartridge had been fired in its face.

L. M. Summerville Kathryn Wenhold United in Marriage

The recent marriage of Miss Kathryn M. Wenhold to Mr. Lawrence M. Summerville, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Summerville, St. Petersburg, Fla., was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abram B. Wenhold, Schwenksville.

The double ring ceremony took place in the United Brethren church, Ligonier, Ind., Sept. 14, with the Rev. John W. Rollins, pastor, officiating.

A green faille suit with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow and white pompons served as the bride's attire. Mrs. Richard A. Summerville, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor for the bride in a brown faille suit with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow and white pompons.

Best man was Mr. Richard A. Summerville, brother of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the Pickwick club, of Syracuse, Ind., following the ceremony. The newlyweds left on a trip to St. Petersburg, Fla., and are now visiting at the home of the bride's parents in Schwenksville. They will reside in Winnetka, Ill.

Mrs. Summerville was formerly employed as a secretary by Bachman and company, Pottstown, and her husband is a staff member of Erie Waterhouse and company, of Chicago, Ill.

Beverly Bill Honored On First Anniversary

Miss Beverly Bill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bill, 1103 South street, celebrated her first birthday with a party at the home of her parents Sunday.

For the occasion, the room was attractively decorated in pink, blue and white. A buffet luncheon was served with the centerpiece a large cake in the form of a lamb and covered with white cocoanut. Under the lamb was a flat cake covered with green cocoanut to represent the pasture.

Guests attending were: Mrs. Anna Krause, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Krause and daughter, Kathleen; Mr. and Mrs. John Vasko, Mr. and Mrs. John Sulomon and son, Bobbie; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Krause and family; Miss Frann Krause, Mr. and Mrs. John Marsyolec and family; Mrs. Mary Sork and son, Stanley; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Tarynski and daughter, Delores; Mr. James Bealer, Mr. George Lasky, Mr. Joseph Perchetti, Mr. and Mrs. William Derrick and Mr. Frank Waslok.

An August fruit cup will benefit from the addition of small, sweet, green seedless grapes. Combine them with orange and cubes of melon.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

Count by Two Methods

WHENEVER your favorite method of appraising your strength shows you to be right on the line between strength enough to bid and not quite enough, it pays to measure it according to another standard. Suppose you use the honor-trick yardstick employed by so many, and it leaves you in doubt. Then is the time to use the "count" of ace 4, king 3, queen 2 and jack 1, making an average hand total 10. If your hand adds to 13 or more that way, it will usually pay you to open any borderline hand in the first three positions; if it adds to 11 or less, then be wary. Vice versa—use honor tricks to decide close questions if you are a "counter."

2 ♣ Pass 4 ♣ Pass

Plenty of people who held those North cards in a big duplicate tournament—in fact, nearly half of them—passed and as a result saw the deal passed out in each case they were rigid honor-trick values and lacked the ability to weigh the merits of the secondary honors in the hand.

The most expert bidders, especially those using the "count" method, saw that the hand with 14 points was more than good enough to make an opener sound. In some cases, this led to an eventual contract of 3-No Trumps because neither North nor South knew that it pays to bid a four-card major topped by a king or queen. They made their game easily. But they of course lost in the tournament to the people who did better by bidding spades and getting into a spade game.

All of the spade declarers beat the No Trumpers by 20 points or more. One beat that score by 50 because an extra trick got made. There the diamond 10 lead was won by the J, a club won by the K, another led to the A, a third ruffed, the heart Q sent to the K, the spade A scored and the 10 returned to the K, then the heart 5 ruffed, the club 9 ruffed, the diamond 4 led to the K, the spade Q used to drop the J, the club 10 scored and the diamond A, the declarer losing only one trick in hearts and one in spades.

U. S. Senator Harlan Bushfield (R-SD) (above) died yesterday in Miller hospital after a long illness. Death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 66. He was a former governor of South Dakota and has been a junior senator from that state since January, 1943.

Thomas Seeks Votes In South; Outlines Program of 'Plenty'

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP)—Socialist presidential candidate Norman Thomas tonight offered the South a program directed toward the "general winning of plenty, peace and freedom."

In a speech at Wooldridge park here, the candidate said that such a program "necessarily means an end of discriminations which have adversely affected the South and a profound change in the system of capitalist exploitation of which the South in certain respects has been peculiarly the victim."

Thomas and President Truman crossed paths here today, but they did not meet. The Socialist candidate stood with a small group of party members in the crowd that heard Mr. Truman speak from the rear platform of his campaign special train this morning.

He said he thought the reception accorded the President was friendly but not enthusiastic. Thomas said the fact he had chosen a Southern city to speak on "the meaning of true liberty" should not be taken as a sign he thought it a sectional issue.

"BY NO MEANS is prejudice, racial or otherwise, confined to the South," Thomas said. "The infamous chattel slavery which has left so difficult a heritage to the South was brought to this new continent in colonial times by nations of 'Christian' Europe. It was tolerated by the authors of the magnificent Declaration of Independence and given legal sanction under the Constitution. It was not a Southern, but a national failure of mind and conscience which brought it to pass that in the United States alone of western nations did it take the clumsy and brutal surgery of war to remove the cancer of chattel slavery."

Thomas said American racial prejudice and discrimination play into the hands of Communism.

He endorsed the proposals of President Truman's civil rights committee and said he believed the President deserves credit for standing by his committee. The proposals have been "long advocated by Socialists," Thomas said. He added the President has not "exercised powers he has to end certain evils of race discrimination."

FISHERMAN'S BODY FOUND
ERIE, Sept. 27 (AP)—The body of Frank Kowalski, 42, of Erie, one of three men who were reported missing after a fishing trip Sept. 11, was found by Coast Guardsmen today in Lake Erie about seven miles from the Erie harbor entrance.

The Presses Stopped; Blame It on the Cat

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 27 (AP)—A stray cat from an adjoining alley stopped the presses at "The State," morning newspaper here, for 30 minutes recently. The cat wandered in to the press room, jumped on the web of newsprint stretched through the press.

The paper broke under the weight, sending the cat sprawling into a pit beneath the press. A half hour later pressmen had the press restructuring with paper and had hauled a dirty, grease-soaked cat out of the pit.

Ed Reigner Named First Prize Winner In Football Contest

Edward J. Reigner, 113 Warren street, was named winner of The Mercury's first weekly football guessing contest last night. Reigner bested 80 other contestants in the first contest and will receive four tickets to the Pottstown High-Norristown High grid fray on Franklin Field Saturday, Oct. 9.

Reigner was the only contestant to pick nine winning teams in the contest. The local football enthusiast was wrong on only one game—Navy vs. California.

Navy was picked to beat California 20-7 on Reigner's coupon, but the Middies did just the opposite in losing a 21-7 decision to California.

FOUR PERSONS selected eight winning teams, but Joe Yuros Jr. was awarded second prize by the judges before his scores were closer to the original scores. Yuros, by winning second prize, will receive two tickets to the Pottstown-Norristown game.

Judges revealed after checking over the 81 coupons received during the past week that the Texas-Norristown game gave contestants most trouble. Many of the contestants picked Texas because of its fine 1947 record and its 33-0 conquest of Louisiana State a week ago. The Longhorns, however, were outclassed by Charley Justice and company Saturday, 34-7.

Many contestants also failed on the Northwestern-UGA, Wisconsin-Indiana, Fordham-Lafayette and Lehigh-Franklin & Marshall games.

The Mercury will run the football contest for 10 more weeks, ending Saturday, Nov. 27. Coupons and a list of game appear in every Saturday's edition of The Mercury. Coupons must be received by the judges by 12 o'clock noon the following Friday and winners will then be named every Tuesday.

Here's your chance to win free football tickets. Fill out your coupon now and send it to the Football Forecaster's Editor at The Mercury. Reigner's scores:

Williams Headed For 4th Batting Title In American League

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (AP)—With five games remaining until the season's end, defending champion Ted Williams of Boston today apparently had his fourth American league batting title on ice with .368. That is 14 percentage points ahead of runner-up Lou Boudreau of Cleveland.

Williams the past week dropped eight points, thus yielding seven notches to Boudreau, who slipped a lone point to .354.

But unless Williams fares far worse than his five hits in 23 trips and Boudreau does much better than his six-for-19, the Boston belter should finish the season as only the third American league ever to win four or more batting championships.

IMMORTAL TY COBB, of course, with 12 titles; heads the list. Next would be Harry Heilmann of Detroit, winning in 1921-23-25-27, and Williams, who previously capped in 1941-42 and the past season.

Third in the batting column through Sunday's games was Cleveland's Dale Mitchell with .337. He gained three points.

Other leaders: Al Zarilla, St. Louis, .326; Barney McCosky, Philadelphia, .323; Luke Appling, Chicago, .322; Bob Dillinger, St. Louis, .321; Bill Goodman, Boston, .314; and Hank Majeski, Philadelphia, and New York's Joe DiMaggio, each with .313.

In addition to crashing the top ten hitters, DiMaggio continued as leader in two important specialized departments. He increased his RBI aggregate by eight to 153 and belted another homer for a season bag of 39.

NEW YORK'S Tom Henrich also maintained his double leadership—in two-baggers with 42 and runs scored with 135. He also moved into a tie with Ed Steward of Washington for third in two-baggers with 13 each.

SHIL' a third two-way leader was the Brownies' Dillinger with 197 hits and the most stolen bases, 25. Boston's Jack Kramer picked up another victory to remain the league's best percentage pitcher with a 17-won, five-lost record for .773.

Bomb Feller, sparking Cleveland's pennant drive, mowed down 15 batters on strikeouts to hold his lead in that department with 161.

ROBINSON GOES ON RADIO NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, major league baseball's first Negro player, signed today to become a six-day-a-week sports commentator for station WMCA in New York. The program will start in November and continue until Robinson leaves for Spring training next year.

Indians, Red Sox and Yanks Resume Fight for Pennant; Boudreau Favors Cleveland

By JOHN CHANDLER (Associated Press Sports Writer)

After one day of rest in the torrid American league pennant chase, the three contenders squared away again today for the final week of play and a crack at the National league champion Boston Braves in the World Series opening a week from Wednesday.

The nerve-fraying stretch drive between the Cleveland Indians, Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees will continue on three widely-scattered fronts. Each club has just five games left to play, in a "don't spare the horses" finish the likes of which the junior loop has rarely experienced.

The Indians definitely are in the saddle now, to cop their first flag since 1920, riding along on a one-game bulge over the Yankees and Red Sox, tied for second place.

With all clubs in both leagues idle Monday, the shouting ended in the National league as Boston clinched the pennant Sunday, this was the situation in the American loop:

Club	W. L.	Pct.	Games To Behind
Cleveland	53 56	.484	0 5
Boston	52 57	.471	0 5
New York	52 57	.471	1 5

Three also-rans, the lowly Chicago White Sox, the Washington Senators, and the Philadelphia Athletics can gum up the works further beginning today.

THE INDIANS, with all of their remaining games at home, meet the White Sox in the first of a two-game series tonight. Tribe Manager Lou Boudreau says "flatly his gang is in, and he could be 100 percent correct."

"I sincerely believe we're in now," the shortstop said after White Sox defeated Detroit Sunday while New York whipped Boston in their final at Yankee stadium.

The Yankees open a three-game set with the Athletics in Philadelphia this afternoon, while the Red Sox and Washington play the first of three games at Boston.

Cleveland can clinch the flag by taking five straight, no matter what the standings.

Club	W. L.	Pct.	Games To Behind
Cleveland	53 56	.484	0 5
Boston	52 57	.471	0 5
New York	52 57	.471	1 5

Today's games and probable pitchers with won and lost records in parentheses:

Chicago at Cleveland—(night)—Papi (2-3) vs. Feller (13-8) or Brisse (14-10) vs. Dobson (16-9).

New York at Philadelphia—(night)—Raschi (19-7) vs. Scheib (13-8) or Brisse (14-10) vs. Dobson (16-9).

Washington at Boston—(night)—Scarborough (13-8) vs. Feller (13-8) or Brisse (14-10) vs. Dobson (16-9).

St. Louis at Detroit—(night)—Sanford (11-20) vs. Hutchinson (13-10).

IN THE NATIONAL, where the Braves are celebrating their first pennant in 34 years, a full four-game program also is slated.

Boston travels to Brooklyn to meet the Dodgers, and Manager Billy Southworth of the new champions says there will be no letdown.

"We'll play out the last of our league string as hard as if the pennant hinged on every game," he said.

The Philadelphia Phillies play a doubleheader with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds, Cincinnati plays at Chicago, and Pittsburgh at St. Louis, the latter a night game.

MEYERS SAID the Bristol team is better than many people think and can give the Trojans trouble. He said the Bristol backs are fast and nearly beat Trenton Catholic.

Yesterday Meyers stressed fundamentals at practice and used a lot of time on defense. After practice, Meyers looked over scouting reports on Bristol and started outlining the Trojans' work for this week.

Connie Mack, who said he wanted to see the best team win the flag, has his mound corps fully rested after several days of idleness. Either Carl Scheib (13-8) or Lou Brisse (14-10) is expected to face the Yankees in the opener.

St. Louis and Detroit meet in the other American league tilt today.

Sled Ride in September

Odd as it may seem, Brennan Roup (left) and Elliot Silver (right), Pottstown High tackles, are shown taking a sled ride in September. The sled, however, is a charging sled and is used by Pottstown High linemen in charging drills to build up the legs. Coach Heeb Meyers said last night that he wasn't quite satisfied with the Trojans' blocking and charging in the Upper Merion game the past Friday and will have the linemen working on the charging sled and tackling dummy this week in preparation for Friday's game at Bristol.

Trojans Back on Practice Field After Beating Spartans in Opener

"The boys looked good against Upper Merion the past Friday night, but they still need a little more work on defense," commented Coach Heeb Meyers yesterday afternoon as he started preparing the Pottstown High gridders for this week's game with Bristol High.

"I didn't see too many mistakes in the game, but I took notice of our tackling and that wasn't too good," Meyers went on to say. The Trojan mentor then said the local team will practice more blocking and offensive charging this week before they start working against Bristol's offense and defense.

Yesterday Meyers stressed fundamentals at practice and used a lot of time on defense. After practice, Meyers looked over scouting reports on Bristol and started outlining the Trojans' work for this week.

AMVETS TO HOLD BOXING SHOW IN ARMORY OCT. 8

Will Bring State's Best Amateurs Here; Local Fighters Will Participate

Some of Pennsylvania's outstanding fighters will come to Pottstown next week to participate in another amateur boxing show sponsored by the Amvets.

Two shows were staged at the Ringing Rocks park early the past Spring, but Amvet officials announced that next week's show will be held in the Pottstown Armory. The show is scheduled for Friday night, Oct. 8 and will start at 8:30 o'clock.

George Powell and Al Corbett continue to handle the shows for the Amvets and the two fight enthusiasts are scheduling some of the best amateurs throughout the state.

POWELL SAID last night that Herb Washington, Golden Gloves champion from Harrisburg, will fight in the feature event. He will face Alex Griffin, Silver Gloves title holder from Philadelphia who has a string of 17 consecutive knockouts. Washington participated in the Olympic tryouts the past Spring but lost in the finals.

Benny Stewart, former lightweight champion of Pennsylvania will also be here for next week's program. Powell said he will battle a boy from the 48th Ward Police Boys' club of Philadelphia in one of the semi-finals.

Enceloy White, Pottstown featherweight, will take on Zack Quintana, former featherweight champion of the U. S. Army, in one of the supporting scraps.

POWELL SAID that Bob Bowman and Hutz Stoe will also be here next week. Bowman and Stoe each appeared here the past Spring when the Amvets sponsored their first two shows.

Willie White, another Pottstown boxer, will also participate in the show, but Powell said no opponent has yet been selected to battle the local lightweight.

Powell and Corbett are trying to schedule 10 bouts for the amateur show. Powell said they will probably fill the schedule sometime this week.

Musial, Mize, Kiner Battle For NL Slugging Honors

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—It looks like Stan Musial, Johnny Mize and Ralph Kiner are going to battle right down to the wire for the top slugging honors in the National league.

With only a week of the season to go, the three power hitters are closer than a T-formation quarterback and his line in the race for the home runs and runs batted in titles.

Here's the way they stand today:
Home runs: Kiner, Pirates, 40;
Mize, Giants, 39; Musial, Cardinals, 37.
Runs batted in: Musial, 126;
Mize, 124; Kiner, 118.
Kiner and Mize wound up in a tie in the homer derby the past year. Each hit 51.

IF MUSIAL should cop both the slugging crowns along with his first in batting, runs, hits, doubles and triples, he will become the first player ever to make such a sweep.

His 378 batting mark, three points over the past week, already has assured him of succeeding Philadelphia's Harry Walker as the hitting champ.

Closest to him is Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn who is finished for the year. The Philly rookie has a .333 mark.

Musial also is far in front in runs, hits and triples. He leads Philadelphia's Del Ennis in doubles, 43 to 40. The great Card batsman has scored 131 runs, collected 223 hits, and has smashed 18 triples.

BEHIND MUSIAL and Ashburn in the big ten are Alvin Dark, Boston, .324; Tommy Holmes, Boston, and Country Slaughter, St. Louis, .321 each; Duke Walker, Pittsburgh, .319; Andy Pafko, Chicago, and Jeff Heath, Boston, .317 each; Sid Gordon, New York, .301, and Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn, .300.

Ashburn seems a cinch to wind up as the stolen base leader unless Brooklyn's Pee-Wee Reese and Pittsburgh's Stan Rojek run wild the rest of the week. Ashburn has 32 steals to 24 each for Reese and Rojek.

St. Louis' Harry Brecheen figures as the league's strikeout king.

Johnson explained it like this today:
"I have been playing football a long time. I started back in junior high school at Tyler. Then I went to Senior high school and the coach was Ed Hennig, who is a leading exponent of wide open football. He likes to throw that ball around.

"HENNIG WAS COACH at Sweetwater High school when a fellow named Sam Baugh came along. You know what Baugh did when he finished high school and went to Texas Christian. Well, Hennig told me I was too slow to play in the backfield regularly but if I wanted to stay on the squad I could become a passer. He taught me plenty about passing and when I went to Southern Methodist Coach Matty Bell and Coach Rusty Russell taught me plenty more."

He taught me plenty about passing and when I went to Southern Methodist Coach Matty Bell and Coach Rusty Russell taught me plenty more."

Johnson explained it like this today:
"I have been playing football a long time. I started back in junior high school at Tyler. Then I went to Senior high school and the coach was Ed Hennig, who is a leading exponent of wide open football. He likes to throw that ball around.

"HENNIG WAS COACH at Sweetwater High school when a fellow named Sam Baugh came along. You know what Baugh did when he finished high school and went to Texas Christian. Well, Hennig told me I was too slow to play in the backfield regularly but if I wanted to stay on the squad I could become a passer. He taught me plenty about passing and when I went to Southern Methodist Coach Matty Bell and Coach Rusty Russell taught me plenty more."

Don Black Improves, Gropes for Thoughts

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17 (AP)—Cleveland Indian pitcher Don Black, who suffered a brain hemorrhage Sept. 13, has made the greatest recovery in the last 24 hours, Dr. Edward B. Castle, Cleveland club physician, said today.

Dr. Castle said the hurler has become more rational and now is "groping for thoughts." He still is not aware of the tribute paid him the past Wednesday night at the stadium, when approximately $40,000 was raised in his behalf.

At that game—between Boston and Cleveland—net receipts over a 25,000 attendance figure were donated to Black and his family.

Dr. Castle also said the injury probably ended Black's baseball career and that he might undergo surgery later on.

Boston Sox Drops Pony League Club From Farm System

WELLSVILLE, N. Y., Sept. 27 (AP)—The American league Boston Red Sox today dropped from their farm system the Wellsville Red Sox of the Class D Pony league.

Kenneth W. Nichols, Wellsville business manager, said he received word from Boston farm system manager George Torporer that Boston did "not intend continuing Wellsville operation."

The Wellsville nine won 60 games and lost 64 to finish the past season in fifth place. The club has been a Boston farm unit for two years. During its four previous years in the Pony loop Wellsville had a working agreement with the American league New York Yankees.

THE WELLSVILLE Exhibition company owns the Red Sox. James Thornton, president of the firm, said local business men holding shares in the concern will meet tomorrow to discuss the situation.

The Sox are the second Pony league club to be dropped by a major league team.

The Clean Oilers were released Sept. 7 by the National league Brooklyn Dodgers. A group of Olean businessmen purchased the Oiler franchise. They are negotiating for a working agreement with a major league club. The Oilers finished the season in sixth place.

Braves Get Permission To Use Ray Sanders

BOSTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Boston Braves today received permission to use first baseman Ray Sanders, recently recalled from Hartford of the Eastern league, as a substitute for the ailing Jim Russell in the World Series.

Braves General Manager John Quinn said he was notified by Commissioner Chandler that the three possible American league series contenders have agreed to the substitution.

Centerfielder Russell has been out of action for two months. He was being treated at Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, for a streptococcus infection.

Full-Blooded Indian Is Signed by Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies of the National league today announced the signing of a full-blooded Winnebago Indian.

He is Lawrence (Sunshine) Thundercloud, six-foot, 185-pound right hand pitcher who has been hurling in lumber camps.

The Phils' announcement said the 21-year-old thrower was sought by the New York Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals, the Boston Braves and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Eddie Krajnick, the Phils' mid-west scout who signed Richie Ashburn, Stan Lopata, and others got the Indian's signature on an Appleton, Wis. contract where he will report next Spring.

Springfield Rifle Plant Aims for Record Output

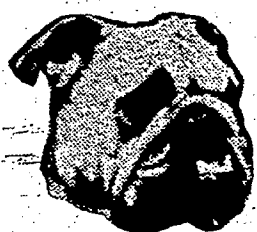

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 27 (AP)—Production of M-1 rifles for infantry and M-3 machine guns for jet planes is being stepped up to record proportions at the big Springfield armory, Army officials revealed today.

Home from an important ordnance conference in Washington, Col. Morris K. Barroll, commandant, sounded a call for 200 additional employees — machine operators, carpenters, laborers.

The plant already is working overtime on a six-day week schedule with 2600 employees following recent additions of approximately 1000 workers.
